No Thanks, Says Paris.
One Busy President.
Hard on Gold Miners.
Three Wise Doctors.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE GANGSTER idea appears in Paris. A big Champs Elysees cafe owner is ordered to place 150,000 francs at a certain spot, or watch his cafe go up in the air.

One hundred fifty thousand francs are only $8,000 and would make American gangsters smile at "piker Frenchmen." But it is a start.

THE FRENCH newspaper Intransigeant, run in the old days by the powerful Henri Rochefort, says, with a justified sideswipe at this country:

"Neither cafes nor banks will be blown up in Paris, because, in order for gangsterism and kidnaping to become national industries there must be assured impunity, complicity on the part of the authorities and complacent public opinion."

Some unpleasant truth in that.

YOU HAVE a busy President working for you. Last week he:

Sent warships to Cuba and brought them back.

Speeded up everything in the line of recovery.

Got an NRA code from the reluctant steel industry for a 90-day experiment.

Took charge himself of the oil industry code.

Authorized spending $70,000,000 more on work and jobs to help prosperity.

Planned trading business and tariff arrangements with Latin America.

Considered inflation carefully, without committing himself, like a small boy in April, with one toe in the pond, asking:

"How is the water?"

The water really is "fine," or would be, if the President would only plunge in. You cannot inflate to increase spending, or help business by merely giving the national dollar a kick.

THIS COUNTRY pays in paper only the old gold dollar price for gold at the mint, which is 25 to 30 per cent below its dollar value in other countries. To help American gold producers our government allows American gold ore, also concentrates and precipitates, to be shipped to Canada for refining.

There in American dollars the gold owner can get the full international price, $1.25 to $1.30 for a dollar's worth of gold, and perhaps, later, $1.50 or $2.

THE DOLLAR is dropping. Do you wonder? Our government announces that it is paper, not gold. Our prices go up, the dollar falls.

Refusal of this government to buy gold at its world value—as Canada and Britain do—is hard on America's mining industry. Shipping gold ore and concentrates to Canada means idleness of United States smelting and refining plants, and idleness for United States workmen, and loss of money to Americans that have invested great sums in plants to use low grade ores.

SINCE OUR dollar is officially paper, there is no use hiding our heads in the sand. Government should buy gold at the world price of the paper dollar and keep the gold here, or at least permit the sale abroad of gold produced and refined here by our labor.

We evidently cannot make up our minds to start the inflation that prosperity demands, and may therefore decide to go back to the gold basis, announcing:

"All a mistake, boys, the gold dollar is back."

OBSERVATIONS from three doctors that you might remember advantageously:

Dr. Evan Evans, who lives at the top of the medical profession, says:

"Many doctors have still to learn that when the operation is more dangerous than the condition to be remedied, the surgeon should NOT operate."

Dr. Mayo, back from Europe, says beware of the newly hatched medical "specialist." Says he:

"The boy comes out of the school and immediately hangs out his shingle as a specialist, having no idea that each part of the body affects all of its parts, and convinced that he can work on one part, without knowing anything, by experience, about the other parts."

Dr. Mayo says the country needs more "general practitioners," or family doctors, fewer of what doctors call "specialists of the left eyebrow."

Dr. Harold B. Disbrow quotes his teacher of Johns Hopkins, Dr. John M. T. Finney:

"Before you perform an operation, involving any risk for the patient, don't consult your professional, scientific views, but ask yourself, 'Would I perform this operation, under these conditions, on my own mother?' If the answer is no, do not operate."

THERE IS always news of government work on aviation in other countries. Italy is building secretly a plane expected to do at least 500 miles an hour, beating the present record of 440 miles per hour held by an Italian.

The new Italian mystery plane, if long range could be added to its speed (and that will come), could bring an "air armada" across the Atlantic in six hours. That may interest us some day.

GERMANY CAN manage dirigibles and keep them safely at work, for when Germany finds a competent dirigible commander it keeps him at his job. It does not send him back to "sea duty," on a floating ship, then break in a greenhorn, and wreck such a ship as the Akron.

Germany will send the big

DEATH RIDES FREAK GALE AT SHORE

7 Known Dead, Others Missing; Jersey Bathers Periled

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 21. (AP.)—Seven persons were known to have drowned during a terrific northeaster that lashed the Jersey coast yeterday, suddenly tossing compartively calm seas into a fury and catching scores of fishing craft off guard.

Coast guardsmen wrote further rescue history against great odds but feared another half-dozen fishermen aboard the craft Gertrude may have perished. The boat was the only one unreported late this morning of all those known to have been at sea when the storm broke.

The wind sent huge combers tumbling against the beach from Absecon to the tip of Cape May.

THREE BODIES RECOVERED

The bodies of four dead were recovered.

They are Capt. Theodore Van Sant, 58, veteran captain; Louis Williams, 55, of Margate; Dr. Charles McArthur, 58, of South Orange, and Harry R. Schmidt, 33, of Camden.

Those given up for dead but whose bodies were not recovered are Richard (Soph) Bruner, 58, Memora captain; Wilbur Lukens, Philadelphia, and Harold Litchen, 42, Philadelphian, who summered at Longport.

At least 100 craft—many of them carrying amateur fishermen—were off this coast yesterday when the storm struck suddenly. With the violence almost of a hurricane, but without a drop of rain, it sent gigantic combers crashing to shore from Absecon inlet almost to Cape May.

BOATS OVERTURNED

Boats were overturned and bathers overwhelmed in the lashing waves. Only heroic rescue work, in which the Coast Guard took a leading part, prevented a much longer death list.

Taking part in the gallant work of saving lives were professional fishing fleets, private speed boats and the Coast Guard's two 75-foot patrol boats, a destroyer, six surf boats and six speed boats.

In addition, James Allen, who operates five fishing craft, all of which were out at sea, saved many others when he chartered a plane as soon as he noticed the strange behavior of the seas inshore and dropped messages of warning to his skippers, who, in turn, notified others.

At the local Weather Bureau, it was explained the freak storm was due to a "kick-back" of a tropical disturbance.

Killed by 'Empty' Gun

ELEANOR STEPEK, 20...FATHER SHOT THREE MONTHS AGO

Miss Stepek, Pine Hollow road, Kennedy Township, shot to death by a bullet fired from a revolver that her brother, Theodore, 23, was cleaning. She died in a hospital. Their father was fatally shot just three months ago. This is a Mahan and Wright picture.

CLEAR BROTHER IN GIRL'S DEATH

County detectives and deputy coroners today questioned Theodore Stepek, 23, of Pine Hollow road, Kennedy Township, regarding the fatal shooting of his sister, Eleonor, 20, Saturday night. He convinced them the shooting was accidental.

Stepek told police he had finished cleaning a supposedly empty revolver, and had pulled the trigger twice. The third time, he said, a shot rang out, and his sister, sitting nearby, fell with a bullet in her abdomen. He took her to the Ohio Valley Hospital, where an emergency operation failed to save her life.

The girl's death was the second in the family from gunshot wounds in three months, her father, Joseph, having been found shot in his automobile on the McKees Rocks-Ohio River Bridge May 9. His death is unsolved, but he is believed to have ended his own life.

Measles Worries Carol's Doctors

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Latest reports today from the royal sick room were that King Carol's ailments, especially his case of measles, were proceeding normally.

Physicians nevertheless were worried, as measles is a more serious disease for grownups than for children. The King's temperature was 102 degrees. In addition to the measles he is suffering from influenza.

Crown Prince Michael, also a measles patient, is recovering rapidly.

Hawks Off on New Speed Mark Flight

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(INS.)—Frank M. Hawks took off from Roosevelt Field an onother transcontinental flight today. The return trip will be a flight for a new speed record between Vancouver, British Columbia, and Quebec. His first stop today will be Cleveland.

Wife Says Hubby Took Clothes So She'd Stay In

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Robert McWilliams belongs to that old school which maintains that a wife's place is in the home, especially when her husband is away at work.

Furthermore, his spouse, Irene, declared in a bill for divorce filed today, he was wont to take with him as he departed for work all her clothes save what she happened to be wearing at that early hour.

This usually consisted of a nightgown, she complained, which assured McWilliams his wife would remain close to the family hearth during the day.

RUDY AND GIRL IN AUTO CRASH

BRIDGEVILLE, Del., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Rudy Vallee, singer and orchestra leader, escaped injury and Miss Alice Faye, a dancer with his orchestra, suffered a cut over the right eye and body bruises early today after their automobile skidded during a heavy rainstorm and upset near Greenwood.

Miss Faye was taken to the office of a physician at Bridgeville by Vallee and other members of the orchestra.

After she was treated the party continued on its way from Atlantic City to Virginia Beach, Va., Miss Faye and Vallee riding with other musicians in their cars.

Illinois Flier Wins Race at Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Harold Neumann, Moline, Ill., pilot, won the featured race on the Louisville air races program yesterday. Jack Wright, of Utica, N. Y., was second, and Clarence McArthur, third. The race was 25 miles, for motors of 500 cubic inch piston displacement.

CAMPUS TUB DEATH TRIAL BEGINS

Maid, Mother-to-Be, Star Witness in Lamson Case

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 21.—Shot through with new developments, the murder trial of David A. Lamson, handsome Stanford University publishing house executive, opened here today.

The crowds that gathered around the old Santa Clara County Courthouse were divided between the appearance of Lamson, charged with fatally beating his pretty young wife, Allene, and the appearance of Miss Dolores Roberts, blonde nursemaid in the Lamsons' Stanford campus home, who is to become a mother, according to admission from defense quarters.

The 19-year-old girl was slated to appear at the hearing today after a week-end at Santa Cruz with Dr. Margaret Lamson, sister of the defendant.

INTEND TO WED

Miss Roberts, whose baby is expected in November, and a boy friend of high school days have filed notice of intention to wed in a nearby county, according to defense attorneys, but the marriage date has not been set.

Lamson, from his cell, declared he knew nothing of the girl's condition. He declared:

"Why, I do not believe it. I won't believe this about Miss Roberts until my sister tells me."

Miss Roberts was a maid in the Lamson home for two years and has been a prominent figure in the case since its inception. The day before Mrs. Lamson met death, the maid left the Lamson's campus home and came to visit with her parents here. The Lamson's baby daughter, Allene, left the same day for the mountains with Lamson's mother.

MAID RECALLED

Miss Roberts, when the murder was reported, was called back to

COMMUNISTS TREK TO SEE GENERAL

Police Squads Placed Around Recovery Office Building

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Three policemen who were placed at the doors of the office of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, the NRA administrator, today to avoid a possible demonstration by longshoremen from Baltimore, were dimissed quickly after administration officials heard of their presence.

Notified by Department of Justice agents that a group described as Communists were en route from the Baltimore wharves to present grievances to Johnson, police officials put guards around the building and sent sentries to Johnson's door.

They were there only a few minutes, however, before Edward F. McGrady, the assistant administrator for labor, heard of it and ordered them away. He then told Johnson of the situation.

The guards remained at the entrances to the Commerce Department Building, and it was agreed that if Johnson was in his office when the group arrived, he would receive a delegation of three. Otherwise, McGrady would hear them.

Police officials still were without definite word as to when the delegation would arrive.

The special guard was requested with the intent of preventing the entrance of the party into the Commerce Department Building until it was determined whether any untoward demonstration was planned.

FARMER KILLS FRUIT RAIDER

A farmer who said his pears had been stolen repeatedly telephoned the Coroner today and announced that he had just shot and killed one of two men who had been committing the thefts.

The farmer, W. R. Bryant, 40, of Jacks Run road, beyond Bellevue, said:

"He's lying in the orchard. You'd better come and get him."

Shortly after the body arrived at the morgue, Mrs. Catherine Grab identified the body as that of her husband, John Grab, of 3 Stern way, the father of three children. He had been unemployed for nearly three years, and went out this morning to get apples for applesauce she told deputies. With her was Joseph Cotych, of 187 Preble avenue. Cotych said he was with Grab in the orchard and declared the farmer shot at them without warning.

County detectives found the dead man in the grass, a bullet from a .22-calibre rifle in his head. Nearby were two sacks filled with pears.

Bryant said he and his 8-year-old nephew, Henry Bryant Cook, had gone into the orchard together, that he had fired one shot not to iniure either man but to frighten them away. The second man fled.

The farm is owned by Bryant's mother, Mrs. M. M. Bryant.

Bryant was taken to county detectives' headquarters for questioning.

Price War Brings 3-Cent Beer in N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(INS.)—Thee-cent beer is here. A beer emporium was swamped with customers when they advertised a seven-ounce glass of the foaming amber liquid for three centimes. It was the latest phase of a beer price war that has raised the quantity and lowered the price of the beverage.

Wings Clipped?

MISS DOWNIE TEPSIC

LADYBIRDS FACE LOSS OF 'WINGS'

More than a score of fledgling pilots will have their wings clipped if they can't make themselves eligible for private licenses by the time their solo licenses expire, according to a ruling of the United States Department of Commerce.

Among them are Katherine M. Edwards, society aviatrix, and Downie Tepsic, comely Beaver student. Two other young women still are training.

The reason for the department's ruling is to curtail expense. Under the new regulations pilots will have to fly to airports where inspectors are located, instead of having the inspectors fly to them. It is considered too hazardous for persons having less than 50 hours of flying to take cross-country trips.

Solo pilot licenses, given in 10 hours of solo time will not be renewed. Those still in effect will be honored until expiration time. They must be renewed every six months.

Penn School of Aviation reports the department's ruling affects 52 active students, 25 of whom are preparing for solo licenses.

2 Swimmers Drown In Erie's Undertow

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 21.—(INS.)—Lake Erie's powerful undertow today had claimed the lives of two swimmers, one of them a man who made an unsuccessful effort to save a drowning mother.

Fred Watson, of Meadville, was drowned as he went to the aid of Mrs. Sally Romelfanger, 40, of Erie, off the peninsula.

Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Romelfanger's 6-year-old daughter witnessed the tragedy yesterday afternoon.

Roosevelt Portrait Begun by Painter

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt took the opportunity of a quiet day at home to sit today for the painting of his official portrait to be hung in the White House beside those of his predecessors.

Mrs. Emmett Rand, of Salisbury, Conn., is the artist. She began the portrait today and it is expected she will complete it about the first of the year.

Rocking Chair Title Awarded to Widow

CAMDEN, O., Aug. 21.—(INS.)—Mrs. Mary E. Root, a widowed mother of five, today held the world's rocking title. She won the crown at the Camden centennial celebration here yesterday when she completed 122 hours of rocking in a rocking chair.

Mrs. Root said that the $25 prize will be used for food and clothing for her family.

Vang Meets Union Man on Lock Tieup

A conference between William J. Kelly, business agent for the Carpenters' District Council, and George Vang, president of the Vang Construction Company, today may end the "walkout" of 135 carpenters tying up the construction on the $3,000,000 Allegheny River Lock No. 3 at Cheswick.

A higher scale is sought.

MINE HEADS WAIT NEW CHARTER

'Take It or Leave It' Edict Debated by Administration

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Hugh S. Johnson and his recovery administrators strove today to tear away the obstacles blocking admission of the bituminous coal industry to membership in the long array of businesses that are following the blue-eagled banner.

Determined that no time should be lost in lining up coal with steel, oil, lumber and cotton textiles, the Recovery Administration drafted its own code of competition for the mine operators and planned to present it to them some time during the day to be used as a basis of discussion.

ACCORD SOUGHT

It was understood, however, that Johnson was hesitating about issuing an edict of "take it or leave it." Rather, indications were that the Recovery chief was continuing his efforts to reconcile the operators on a code of their own writing.

A hearing on a trade plan for the leather industry was started with labor representatives presenting demands for a 30-hour work week and higher minimum wages than proposed in the code submitted by the leather manufacturers.

In the next 10 days more than 20 such hearings will be held, and Recovery officials said today that more than 100 additional temporary agreements for industries were expected to be approved before September 1.

TAPLIN SEES JOHNSON

The outstanding difficulty surrounding the drafting of a coal code was the question of minimum wages. Johnson has been told that miners throughout the country were expecting a $5-a-day wage, with some slight differential for the South, and that labor strife would be likely if any smaller wage were provided. On the other hand, he has been told by a large part of the coal industry that the $5-a-day wage would mean their economic death.

Frank E. Taplan, a Cleveland railroad and mine owner, conferred with Johnson this morning, but declined to discuss the conversation. Taplin has been among the operators supporting the $5-a-day wage advocated by the United Mine Workers of America. He also has urged the administration to use a firm hand in dealing with the industry and get out a code as soon as possible.

HOME DRIVE PLANNED

Johnson is pointing his aides for the big drive—the house-to-house, store-to-store canvass that starts next Monday with the objective of placing a Blue Eagle in every window and insuring victory in President Roosevelt's re-employment campaign.

Johnson has tentatively fixed mid-November, or the end of the year at the latest, to retire from the post he holds.

By then he expects his emergency work to be finished. He plans to return to private industrial life as an associate of Bernard M. Baruch, with whom he has worked since World War days. A permanent administrator will carry on in Johnson's place.

Conferences are to be held this week, probably Tuesday or Wednesday, with officials of the automobile industry. Indications were that the open shop and maximum hour issues raised by the automobile code presented last week will be satisfactorily and speedily settled.

Enrollment of steel and oil under the NRA was regarded by Johnson as the crux of his task to get the major industries signed

Coal Code May Take Pinchot to Capital

HARRISBURG, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Keeping in close touch with the anthracite and bituminous coal situations, Gov. Pinhot today held himself ready for another hurried trip to Washington.

Back from a week-end at his Pike County estate, the Governor said he is following the coal codes closely and asserted it is possible he may go to the national capital Wednesday.

Storm Victim Back Here 'Glad to Be Alive'

Still shaken from a desperate ride through the wind-tossed waters of Atlantic City inlet at the height of the hurricane yesterday, John Kinzer, of Woodland avenue, Mt. Royal, returned home today. He said:

"I tell you it was the worst ever. I'm glad to be alive."

He was on the motor cruiser Grace with 21 others when a ground swell foretold the gathering storm. The boat headed for safety inside the bar, but before it had gone five lengths the wind had gathered the waters up and was piling waves 60 to 80 feet above the Grace's gunwales, Kinzer said.

One huge comber broke upon them as they reached the bar, piled five men in the hold, and swept the catch of fish over the stern. The next swept them across the bar and into safety.

Library to Circulate 'Mellon's Millions'

"Mellon's Millions," controversial biography of A. W. Mellon by Harvey O'Connor, has been ordered for distribution by Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh.

Ralph Munn, director of the library, explained:

"We have ordered the book. Regardless whether it is an honest or dishonest, fair or unfair book it is current—being discussed generally—and the library must take cognizance of it.

"I have read the book and don't think it is anyway fair to Mr. Mellon. O'Connor certainly looked at him through a heavy haze of prejudice."

National Leaders Join in Blue Eagle Campaign

up under hour-shortening, wage-increasing agreements. With that done he announced plans for launching the campaign, patterned after the Liberty loan drive, to take the Blue Eagle into every store and home.

National figures, including Alfred E. Smith, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Speaker Henry T. Rainey, will take part. One million five hundred thousand volunteer worke. already have been organized for this drive, as well as to check up on employers and uncover violations by those who fail to increase wages and add new help.

OIL COMMITTEE

Oil leaders today were interesting themselves in the makeup of the committee of 15 to be appointed within a week by Mr. Roosevelt to administer the new oil code with its modified price control regulations and provisions for limiting marketing.

At the same time, steel officials began the important changes in operations required of them, one of the first tasks being the preparation and filing with the Iron and Steel Institute of a list of prices.

The committee of bituminous coal producers found trouble in their attempt to draw up a new code of fair competition for the industry when they were unable to reach any agreement on administrative regions.

The administration was reported to have proposed grouping Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania as one region. Pennsylvania operators were said to have objected, claiming the competitive area of which they were a part was the Appalachian production region extending along the western base of the Appalachian Mountains from Northern Pennsylvania to Tennessee.

WAGES, HOURS DIFFERENCES

Besides minimum wages and wage differentials maximum working hours were differences to be worked out in drawing up a single code. Operators working under union contracts and the United Mine Workers of America have stood steadfastly for a $5 day as a basic rate for inside labor.

The large non-union group suggested a $3.84 day. The union operators wanted a 5 per cent differential for the South. The non-union producers asked for a 40 cents a day spread. Alabama wanted a $2.40 minimum rate for underground labor. Numerous other differentials and minimum rates were asked.

It was understood the administration favored the $5 day though neither Gen. Johnson nor any of his assistants has made any declaration of policy in respect to wages or hours.

The suggestions for a maximum work week ranged from the 30 hours asked by the mine workers to the 48 suggested by some southern and western producers.

The union operators wanted prices to be based on cost of production plus a "reasonable" profit. The non-union group suggested that prices be based on the average regional price.

The non-union group, bitterly opposed to blanket unionization of its mines, was understood to be near an undertanding with the administration on that phase of an agreement.

Oil Industry Factions Seek Modifications

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(INS.)—A movement for modification of the oil industry code signed Saturday night by President Roosevelt was opened today by leaders of factions of the oil industry.

With President Roosevelt announcing he will consider all changes proposed before the code is effective September 2, the oil factions which have been fighting for months prepared formal complaints against portions of the code.

A request for price-fixing even to the ultimate consumer had already been lodged with the President by the committee of 54 representing a large faction in the American Petroleum Institute.

NOTED WOMEN TO AID NRA

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The names of 52 women appointed to the National Women's Committee of the 1933 Mobilization for Human Needs were announced yesterday by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the committee.

They were selected by Mrs. Roosevelt and Newton D. Baker, chairman of the 1933 mobilization.

Miss Jane Addams, Chicago; Mrs. Nicholas F. Brady, New York, and Mrs. Marcus C. Sloss, San Francisco, are vice chairmen of the committee, and Miss Ruth Hill, of the Family Welfare Association of America, is executive secretary.

Letters were sent out from headquarters of the committee by Mrs. Roosevelt to women selected to head welfare crusades in more than 400 cities. Mrs. Roosevelt stressed the part private social agencies must play in the recovery program and urged the women to lend their aid in seeing that campaigns in support of those services are successful this fall.

Egyptians to Study U. S. NRA Program

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(INS.)—Indicating the tremendous interest aroused abroad over President Roosevelt's recovery program, the State Department today announced that Egypt was sending its minister of finance here to watch developments.

The minister will arrive in New York about September 1 and come directly to Washington where he will study the administration's recovery program and its developments.

Features of NRA's Oil Program

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Here are the major provisions of the oil industry's trade practice code as approved by President Roosevelt:

Effective September 2.

Creates a committee of 12, nine from the industry and three from the NRA, all appointed by the President, and a federal agency he will designate to administer it.

Gives the government full authority to hold production in line with demand through allocating production to states and preventing shipment out of a state of more than its share.

Authorizes modified form of price fixing for crude oil, with power for the President to set prices all the way down the line if he wishes to.

Prescribes 40-hour week for marketing operation employes except filling station workers, and for clerical employes in production, drilling, refining and pipe line operations, with pay rates 40 to 47 cents an hour and 45 to 52 cents respectively.

Sets a 36-hour week for production division employes other than clerical and a 48-hour week for filling station workers, with the minimum pay of the latter ranging from $12 to $15 weekly according to the population of the city.

Sets up marketing practice code to prevent big companies from having unfair advantage over smaller operators.

Chicago Garment Workers Strike

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—(INS.)—Ten thousand garment workers went on strike here today for higher wages and shorter working hours.

The walkout, ordered by heads of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, tied up 150 dressmaking establishments in Chicago. The industry was virtually at a standstill.

NEW COAL DEAL AWAITED BY PRESIDENT

Looks Forward to Early Conclusion of Drive For Recovery

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt confidently awaited the new deal for the disordered coal industry today as the climax of his drive for better days for American working men and industry.

His last minute signature of the steel and oil charters Saturday night is regarded by leaders as an epochal step in the recovery campaign. So, the President relaxed today in his boyhood home on the banks of the Hudson looking forward to early conclusion of his campaign for a reorganized nation.

After a Sunday of rest with his family, Mr. Roosevelt was reserving himself for official business only as he went again to his windswept study in the high ceilinged home.

There is no doubt in the mind of the President that the code prescribing working hours and wages for the troubled bituminous coal industry will be forthcoming in the next two days. He realizes it is a difficult problem to bring into one working agreement the hundreds of companies which have been fighting for an edge.

EXPECTS AUTO CODE

Also, the chief executive expects in the next two weeks all of the basic industries, including the giant automobile business, to come under the Blue Eagle.

Asked about reports that Henry Ford, who has not yet aligned himself with the automobile code, would hold out and go the rest of the industry one better, Mr. Roosevelt simply smiled.

The President reviewed with satisfaction his busy week in Washington which he feels brought the national recovery drive close to the goal of fulfillment by Labor Day.

During his stay here, Mr. Roosevelt is counting upon as near a rest as is allowed the chief executive of the United States.

NORMAN H. DAVIS TO CALL

Tomorrow he will see Norman H. Davis, his ambassador-at-large in Europe, and Mrs. Davis. The special envoy is ready to return to seek early success for the Geneva disarmament parley and Mr. Roosevelt is particularly interested in talking to him about this. During the week he also expects to receive Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin. Upon the results of this talk it is expected that a decision will be made by the President and Mr. Woodin on whether the latter's health will permit him to continue in office.

Demands are coming in upon the President for visits and speeches in this neighborhood. But, he is reserving everything to permit himself to keep the closest contact with Washington and the recovery campaign. Stephen T. Early, a secretary, is in charge of a special White House office in Poughkeepsie and the telephone and telegraph are keeping Mr. Roosevelt right on top of things.

Half Million Men To Get Road Jobs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(INS.)—Nearly half a million men will receive employment on road construction, Secretary of Interior Ickes, public works administrator, estimated today.

This estimate is based on the fact that on 465 highway projects approved to date, on which 67 contracts have been awarded, 41,119 men will get direct employment.

NRA House-to-House Drive to Be Planned

An emergency meeting of the 500 members of the Pittsburgh NRA Campaign Committee has been called for 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium. The meeting was called to discuss the house-to-house, industry-to-industry canvass to start next Monday.

STEEL CHIEFS SPEED CODE PLEDGES

Industry Faces Task Of Meeting Shorter Hours, Higher Pay

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Steel magnates traveled homeward yesterday to begin the important adjustments in operations necessary to fulfill NRA requirements for shorter hours and higher pay.

First important task was the preparation and filing with the Iron and Steel Institute of a list of prices for their various products, given on an F. O. B. basis for each basing point named in the steel charter.

These prices were due with the institute's board of directors—the code's administrative agency—within 10 days from President Roosevelt's signature of the code last night. Thereafter, 10 days' notice must be given of all price changes, while the board itself may name the base prices if those filed are deemed unfair—that is out of line with production costs.

MINIMUM WAGE

Vital also to steel's nearly 300,000 workers was application of the code's minimum wage rates in the 21 steel districts into which the country was divided. These minimum rates range from 25 cents in the southern district to 40 cents an hour in such areas as Pittsburgh, Youngstown, the North Ohio River, Detroit, Toledo, Chicago and Colorado.

Pledged to the principle of a 40-hour work week average, the steel chieftains had until November 1—providing operations reach 60 per cent of capacity—to establish the eight-hour day. This fact was considered by Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, as one of the "most significant accomplishments" of NRA.

RIGHT OF BARGAINING

Into the hands of labor the code delivered the law's guarantee of the right of collective bargaining through representation of workers' own choosing with this language, new to steel:

"No employe and no one seeking employment shall be required as a condition of employment to join any company union or to refrain from joining, organizing or assisting a labor organization of his own choosing."

A period of 90 days was fixed for trial of the code "to afford the President an opportunity to determine upon the recommendations of the representatives of the administration."

During this time Johnson, and two aides named by him, will supervise the code's direction by the institute, particularly with regard to the basing point price system, and advise the President of its working and any changes needed.

Sacrifices Credited To NRA Code Signers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(INS.)—Acceptance by major industrial groups such as steel, oil, and others, of national recovery codes involves real sacrifice on their part, and is evidence of their desire to help in the present emergency, in the opinion of Dallett H. Wilson of New York, industrial and legal authority.

He warned of those that "chisel" at the expense of firms and associations that have signed up. Wilson is regarded as an authority on legal and industrial phases of the present program.

Apartment Owners To Unite for Code

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Representatives of apartment house owners' associations in all parts of the country will attend a joint meeting here today for the purpose of framing an NRA code and organizing a national association, L. J. Efferth, secretary of the Cleveland organization, said yesterday.

More than 2,000,000 employes and approximately 10,000,000 families in the United States will be affected by the code, Efferth estimated.

Today

Zeppelin to visit Chicago, and Postmaster General Farley will give you a chance to send back letters, telling what you think of Hitler—politely, of course.

THE ZEPPELIN has been making regular trips between Berlin and various parts in South America. Mr Farley is young, full of energy, and possesses the President's confidence, for good reasons.

Perhaps he will persuade this government that it is big enough to have its own air line across the ocean.

SEEK TO REOPEN CLOSED BANKS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The Treasury today continued trying to reorganize the nation's banking structure, its task made more clear cut by official figures showing that 4,902 financial institutions had emerged from the hectic March holiday with available resources of $20,860,491,000.

That was the condition of the banks last June 30. Since then, more banks have re-opened, some few have closed again. But at the end of June, the additional 985 national banks still closed or operating on a restricted basis had assets of $1,441,436,000.

It was the Treasury's job to put more concentration now on these so they may be re-opened or reorganized and their total deposits of $1,028,347,000 made available.

Figures like these regularly are gathered by the Comptroller of the Currency, who issues periodic calls at times he selects for condition reports on national banks. June 30 was the last. The latest before that was December 31, 1932; there was another on June 30, 1932.

In December, 6,016 national banks reported assets of $23,310,974,000; on the last day of June a year ago, 6,150 reported assets of $22,367,711,000.

MINE RESUMES UNDER NRA

Pittsburgh Coal Company's Montour No. 10 mine resumed operations this morning under the watchful eye of the NRA.

Six additional complaints of alleged discrimination were received by Elmer F. Andrews, special NRA representative, who with Federal Labor Conciliator James F. Dewey last week succeeded through mediation in settling the third strike in as many weeks.

Among those refused jobs this morning, according to the discrimination complaints, was Edward Burwell, evicted from a company-owned house under threat of exile in the so-called Siberian camp at Essen at the outset of the present labor controversy.

Supt. William Phillips, in charge of operations at Montour No. 10, refused to explain why he had refused Burwell a job, but it was concluded that the company did not consider his case applicable under the NRA coal truce because he had been discharged prior to the signing of the agreement.

Labor Board Ends Anthracite Strike

HAZLETON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Striking anthracite workers returned to the collieries today and unemployed miners ceased picketing activities under the terms of an agreement reached by Howard Colvin, representative of the National Labor Board, and leaders of the movement.

The men seek to force the Lehigh Navigation Coal Company to spread work between its various collieries.

Kelly Income Tax Charge Scanned

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—(INS.)—The executive committee of the Better Government Association of Chicago was called to meet in special session late today to take up the question of Mayor Edward J. Kelly's $105,000 income tax settlement with the United States government.

CHECK 'KITING' LAID TO BANKS BY COUZENS

Probe Hears Senator Charge $6,000,000 Detroit 'Juggle'

DETROIT, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—United States Senator James Couzens (Rep.), Michigan, told the Detroit bank investigating jury here today that "there have been all kinds of 'kiting' of checks" in an effort to mislead the public as to the actual condition of the two National banks whose closing last February the jury is investigating.

The Michigan Senator, declining to give the source of his information on the grounds that it was confidential, said he was "satisfied that if the prosecutor goes into the dealings between the groups he will find all kinds of kiting of checks. This is a very serious situation."

HINTS EVASION

He declared such action was made "as the time for the regular examinations approached." He said:

"I am informed that on one occasion the Detroit Trust Company got $6,000,000 from the First National Bank, Detroit. It then turned around and deposited this $6,000,000 with the First National as a trust fund. The net effect of this was to show that each bank had $6,000,000 in cash or more than it actually had."

The Senator's charges came as he resumed the witness stand before the jury for the third day, to continue his recital of "inside facts" regarding the closing of the First National and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, the closings of which the jury is investigating. The First National was a member of the Detroit Bankers Company, the holding group, while the Guardian National was held by the Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc. Both banks are under federal receiverships.

DENIED BY BANKER

Previously during the morning the Senator had read a letter from George P. Davison, New York banker, denying that he had offered the presidency of a large Detroit bank to be owned by New York interests to Wilson W. Mills, former chairman of the First National board.

After reading the letter, however, the Senator said that J. T. McMilland and E. D. Stair, directors of the First National, had told him Mills had stated at a directors' meeting that he would build a new bank.

Restaurant Men Meet Again on Code

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Guy Gundaker, chairman of the National Restaurant Association's NRA committee, announced he had called a meeting of the committee because of "confusion" resulting from the NRA policy board's amendment to eliminate charging of employes for meals under the industry's code.

Gundaker said modification of the restaurant temporary code was caused by misunderstanding, pay schedules having been raised to cover the meal deductions after the NRA objected to scales calling for wages "and meals" as too vague.

The committee will meet in Washington early next week.

Garage Repairmen To Get 48-Hour Week

DETROIT, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—A code for garage repairmen, to be submitted to the National Recovery Administration, was the subject of a two-day conference opened here today by members of the National Automotive Maintenance Association.

W. F. Vater, president of the Associated Michigan Garage Owners, said a 48-hour week for skilled mechanics, at a minimum of 50 cents an hour, will be one of the chief features of the code. Employes who normally work 56 hours a week would receive overtime pay for the extra hours, he said.

Code for Codewriters New Deal in Comedy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The codifiers of the NRA have drawn up a code for codewriters.

Officially, the document is anonymous. The authors claim to represent—to use the NRA words describing those who have submitted other codes—a majority of their industry.

Like all other businesses, there were some wrangles over terms straightened out in the back rooms in which the NRA officials function so well when an argument seems far off.

One faction insisted upon a 24-hour day for code writers, while others felt a 40-hour day would be more appropriate. They compromised by leaving out all wage and hour provisions and evolved the following charter for their trade:

"Whereas (and may say that all good codes begin with whereas), there is a threatened overproduction of codes in the city of Washington, and

"Whereas, the codes now in existence if placed end to end would reach from here to there and back again if anyone cared,

"Be it hereby declared that code writers be governed by the following code:

"1—No more than 30 codes may be written in any one week by any person, association or company representative.

"2—Codes may be stored in the inner left pocket of the coat and must be withdrawn from such storage only as a result of reasonable demand expressed by the intended victim to hear how the country is to be saved.

"3—Upon such withdrawal from storage, it shall be unlawful to read more than three pages without coming up for air, but nothing in this paragraph shall be taken to in any way modify the provisions as heretofore set forth."

MOTHER OF ELOPING 'TONY' DREXEL WITHHOLDS BLESSING

GIRL'S PARENTS RECONCILED TO MARRIAGE

Couple Quits Atlanta Hotel on Mystery Journey

NASSAU, N. P., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Mrs. Anthony Joseph Drexel, Jr., is "terribly disappointed" about the marriage of her son, Anthony III, to Miss Helen Avis Howard, of Atlanta, she said today.

The couple was mararied Saturday night in Walhalla, S. C., almost as Mrs. Drexel said she knew nothing of her son's engagement, and "therefore denies it."

The lder Mrs. Drexel declined further comment today. The couple met here when the former Miss Howard was a visitor of Miss Betty Collins during July.

Young Drexels Mask Honeymoon Plans

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 21—Anthony J. Drexel III, of Philadelphia and his bride, the former Helen Avis Howard, of Atlanta, left Atlanta today for an undisclosed destination.

Following their elopement to Walhalla, S. C., Saturday, they spent yesterday at the Biltmore Hotel here. They checked out of the hotel this morning with the statement that they might be back in a few days.

"Tony" Drexel, scion of a prominent Philadelphia family, and Miss Howard, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Howard, of Atlanta, slipped away Saturday night a few hours after news reports from Nassau had quoted Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., as denying her son's engagement to the Atlanta society girl, and were married in Walhalla, S. C.

Last night Mrs. Drexel said:

"We may go to Honolulu, or Japan, we don't know just yet."

Meanwhile, there was no word from Mrs. Drexel, Jr., so the young couple said.

Drexel remarked:

"And we are not much worried about that, either. Everything will be all right."

They do not plan to live in Atlanta, and will probably make their home in New York, friends were told last night at an informal dinner party given in honor of the bride and groom by an Atlanta friend.

Dr. Howard, a prominent Atlanta physician and father of the bride, was not surprised at news of the elopement, telephoned to him by his daughter from Walhalla immediately after the ceremony, but Mrs. Howard became almost hysterical, it was said.

Later, however, Mrs. Howard became reconciled to the sudden marriage, and expressed her approval of it. A December wedding had been planned for the couple, Mrs. Howard pointed out, and the shock of the elopement upset her.

EX-CROAT HEAD GUN VICTIM

Anton Gazdic, former president of the Croatian Fraternal Union of America, of 416 Kingsboro avenue, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Gabrich, in Chicago, as the result of a bullet wound received Saturday night.

Immediately after hearing of his death last night, Miss Violet Gazdic, a daughter, and his sister, Miss Tonica Gazdic, left Pittsburgh for Chicago. Mrs. Gazdic and a son, Berislav, were visiting in Chicago at the time of the shooting.

DOCTOR, KIDNAP VICTIM, DOPED

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Another mystery involving Dr. W. H. Hedberg, St. Paul chiropractor, confronted police today as they ordered him held in a hospital for investigation.

Dr. Hedberg, last month alleged intended victim of an attempted mutilation operation which failed, was found in a railway yard here yesterday and was taken unconscious to a hospital.

He was cut, bruised and apparently under the influence of narcotics, a police physician said. His condition was regarded as not serious. There were five punctures near his right elbow, apparently made by a hypodermic needle, the physician said.

Dr. Hedberg disappeared Saturday night after telephoning his wife he was on his way home. Police learned he was seen later by a freight crew in a railroad box car. What happened afterward's until he was found beside a railroad track nearby, police had not determined. They planned to question him when his condition permits.

'BLUE SHIRTS' DEFY VALERA

International News Service.

DUBLIN, Aug. 21.—In sharp defiance of President Eamonn de Valera and his government, Gen. Owen O'Duffy, leader of the Free State's "Blue Shirts," declared today his organization would face "every form of persecution" rather than submit to suppression.

His declaration was made in reply to a threat by de Valera to ban the "Blue Shirt" parades in the face of a prohibitory decree.

The organization had planned to hold demonstrations throughout the Free State in honor of slain Irish patriots, but only in Cork and Dublin were parades actually carried out.

In the Cork demonstration there were a few minor scuffles between "Blue Shirts" and members of the Irish Republican Army, supporters of de Valera, but in Dublin the parade passed off without incident.

'New Deal' Ousting Fiction From Libraries

Information about the "New Deal" and the stock market was in heaviest demand during the first half of this year, according to a semi-annual report by the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh today.

Due to reduced funds, the report states, the library now purchases little light fiction, but readers apparently are turning to more serious books.

The usual summer slump did not occur at the Business Branch. Library records show an increase of 51 per cent in the number of books lent during the fist six months this year, as compared to the same period in 1929.

'FRAMED,' POLO STAR'S REPLY TO NURSE

Texas Cowboy Denies Attack, Acted as 'Gentleman'

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Cecil Smith, San Antonio (Tex.) cow puncher and high ranking polo star of the West, today gave his version of the affair which led Miss Eugenia Rose, a young nurse, to file a statutory charge against him.

A hearing, first scheduled for today before Police Magistrate W. R. Brightmire, of Evanston, now is set for tomorrow to give Miss Rose a chance to tell Assistant State's Attorney Eugene Sachowski how she contends Smith attacked her during what she described as a two-hour battle Friday night in Hubbard Woods.

SMITH'S VERSION

Declaring he would remain here until cleared of the charges, Smith, who yesterday led the West to a 12-to-6 victory over the East all-star polo team at exclusive Onwentsia, said:

"I drove Miss Rose home Friday night, but at no time was there any play of indiscretion on my part. I cannot understand Miss Rose's charges unless they are a deliberate frame-up.

"Rube Williams, a teammate of mine, was transferred to his hotel room from the hospital where he was confined since his leg injury last Wednesday. Miss Rose's services were not needed any more. It was about 10:30 o'clock and I offered to drive her home after she said she would have to go by interurban."

WISHED HIM LUCK

Smith then explained that they left the room together and got into his car. He continued:

"We drove south to Evanston, engaging in civil conversation, mostly about polo and its fascination. The drive took about an hour and 45 minutes. At her home, I got out of the car and took her to the door, bidding her goodbye and thanking her. She in turn wished me luck in the game yesterday. I did only what any gentleman would have done under the circumstances."

According to the young woman's story, Smith dragged her from the car and struggled with her until she "could no longer resist."

Magistrate Brightmire said he understood Miss Rose has submitted to a medical examination and that testimony as to the finding would be offered at the trial.

'Reciprocal Kiss' Agreed As Cause of Shooting

Wife and Partner In Mutual Embrace, Attorneys Say

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Attorneys for both sides agreed in court today it was a "reciprocal kiss" that Eric Scudder, 49, gave to Mrs. Emily King, the wife of his business partner.

The agreement regarding the nature of the embrace was reached as Albert Cleveland King, 49, was arraigned on a charge of assault to kill his wife a few hours after the kissing episode.

Mrs. King was not in court, and witnesses informed Judge Joseph H. McGarry she had collapsed from nervous strain and was under the care of a physician. Mr. and Mrs. Scudder also were absent, and the case was continued until Friday.

The statement that Mrs. King kissed back when Scudder kissed her as they stood near the swimming pool at a country club Saturday night were made in response to a question from the judge.

Attorney William Kailes, counsel for King, said:

"They were kissing each other."

Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin said:

"It was a reciprocal embrace."

King sat mute, staring glumly at the floor. He has been freed on $2,500 bond.

Attorney Kailes said:

"You can imagine Mr. King's feelings when he saw his wife in another man's arms. They had left the dance floor and my client had followed them.

"When he reached home, he got a gun, without knowing quite what he was doing. He never intended to injure his wife. It went off accidentally when he slipped on the floor."

Mrs. King told police she ran down 14 flights of stairs from her home after the shot was fired. Then she went to the Scudder home.

Scudder said he thought no more of it than he would "kissing a baby." Mrs. King said it came as a surprise to her. Mrs. Scudder said:

"The affair is just too silly."

Scudder and King are partners in the Citrush Products Company.

FORMER EDITOR HERE SHOT

Crombie Allen, formerly on the old Pittsburgh Times and editor of the Greensburg Tribune for many years, is recovering at his home in Ontario, Cal., from a wound made by a bandits' bullet received while visiting in Los Angeles last Wednesday.

The same bullet first entered the left eye of a companion, Miss Cora Withington, driving his car. It passed through her right eye and lodged in Allen's neck.

Allen was well enough last night to appear at a Los Angeles police station in an attempt to identify suspects, but Miss Withington is still in a hospital, the sight of her left eye gone and little hope held for saving her right eye.

Allen, son of Capt. W. E. Allen, a Civil War veteran, on leaving Greensburg, went to California and became publisher of the Ontario Daily Report.

TOWN COUNCIL BARS JESSIE

International News Service.

PEABODY, Mass., Aug. 21.—As Jessie B. Costello continued her preparations for her debut as an entertainer Friday night at a Cape Cod dance hall, the first official snag today appeared for the New England tour of the mother of three children who a week ago was acquitted on a charge of having poisoned her husband.

Word was received from Salisbury Beach that the town fathers had banned an appearance there of Mrs. Costello. Town selectmen declared:

"Such an exhibition in a building in this town, where admission is charged, will be sufficient cause for immediate revocation of license."

Jessie's home was a mecca for tourists over the week-end, the crowd around the Fay avenue bungalow being so large that special police were called in an effort to keep the automobiles moving.

BLAST IN TRUCK CRASH KILLS 4 PICKNICKERS

Straw Ride Becomes Inferno as Cargo Explodes

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The crash of two trucks, one loaded with picnickers, the other with chemicals, early today turned a straw ride into an inferno, killing four persons and injuring a score of others seriously enough to require hospital treatment.

Police said that the truck carrying the chemicals, part of a freight shipment bound for New York, crashed into the rear of the merrymakers' truck.

Fire followed instantly and a moment later there came an explosion which aroused the countryside.

HURLED TO ROAD

Young people were strewn over the roadside, but it meant the saving of their lives. The four, who burned to death were trapped in the straw-strewn picnic truck. Firemen and state police braved the peril of more explosions to drag out the bodies, but the fire raged too furiously for them to be brought out alive.

All of those killed and injured were from Chester and Marcus Hook, Pa. They had been on a picnic to White Crystal Beach, Md., and were on their way home at the time of the collision seven miles north of this city.

Those killed were listed by state police as:

CUMMINGS, HENRY, 27, Chester.
MAHONEY, DANIEL, 20, Chester.
GASKIL, FRANCIS, 25, Chester.
CHLASTA, JENNIE, 19, Trainer, Pa.

Several were injured in addition to the score who were brought to two Wilmington hospitals, but their names were not obtained in the excitement.

TOO LATE TO STOP!

On the Wilmington-Philadedphia pike, main travel artery, and casting a glare which could be seen for miles, the accident caused a traffic jam which blocked cars for miles in both directions.

State Police said the truck which carried the chemicals was owned by the Tri-State Freight Corporation, of Baltimore, Md. They declared the driver, Henry J. Knott, of Rockdale, Md., who was slightly hurt, told them he saw the other truck too late to stop. He had not heard the noise of the merrymakers.

Crash Kills Driver; Dynamite Spilled

Lindy Aids British Pilot After Crash in Iceland

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh obeyed a rule of the air and lent a helping a hand to comrade in distress when he aided a young British pilot, John Grierson, in salvaging parts from the latter's plane, wrecked yesterday in an attempted takeoff for Greenland.

Grierson left England August 5 on the first leg of an intended flight to New York, and reached Iceland by way of the Orkney and Faroe Islands. A wave broke over one of the floats and wrecked the craft.

Grierson was not hurt. Lindbergh was extremely sympathetic and did everything possible to lessen the Briton's disappointment.

The American aviator, who is engaged in a northern air-mapping tour, conferred with associates aboard the supply ship Jellinge, which today awaited sailing orders from New York.

Mrs. Lindbergh, meanwhile, motored to Thingvellir as the guest of Mrs. Asgeir Asgeirsson, wife of the premier of Iceland. Mrs. Lindbergh said she did not want to leave the country without visiting this picturesque cradle of Iceland history.

Soviet Child Spies Trap Own Parents for Prize

MOSCOW, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Approximately 100,000 children, ranging from kindergarten age to 16 years, are being used for the harvest in North Caucasus, Ukraine and mid-Volga regions to "protect the Socialist crop."

The children, a Kharkov dispatch said today, are being organized by the Communist political sections, which now exercise rigid control over all agriculture, into "light cavalry detachments."

Both boys and girls are called on to watch sharply to prevent grain thefts and other depredations in these troublesome areas and also to retrieve grain left in the fields by the harvesters.

Thousands of them have built huts, in which they live, in the fields. They are fed by the government.

One nine-year-old boy, Mischa Sorokin, has been commended for denouncing and causing the arrest of his own father, a collective farmer who, the child charges, took more grain than was due him from the common production.

Twelve-year-old Dmitri Gordeenko is credited with trapping three grain thieves in a collective field, and an eight-year-old girl, Anatasia Omelchenko, caused the arrest of a supposed Kulak woman in whose home she saw a bucketful of grain.

As a reward to the more energetic youngsters the head of the political sections ordered that 1,000 suits of clothing be distributed.

BRIDES OF A. E. F. VEXED FRANCE, U. S. REVEALS

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—In a new series of World War notes made public by the State Department today a sharp exchange with the French on the marriage of their women to American troops occupied a large part of the correspondence.

While Germany was being threatened with retaliation for the mistreatment of prisoners of war and there was an impasse on the use of poison gas, the French considered the marriage question of paramount importance.

ENVOY COMPLAINS

On instructions of his government, M. Jules Jusserand, French ambassador, complained to the State Department that American soldiers were marrying the little French girls and that there was no way of knowing whether they had wives behind them. The French wanted to send any Yank to a penal institution who misrepresented himself in the brief period they had for courtship and nuptials.

Secretary of State Lansing, Gen. Pershing and even President Wilson had to turn their thoughts from war to those of love to satisfy the French. Wilson was consulted frequently.

GUILTY OF THEFTS

The documents revealed that the Germans frequently were guilty of mistreating American prisoners and stealing clothing and food which were sent through the Swiss lines for them.

There also was an exchange with the Germans through the Spanish embassy at Berlin on the use of poison gas. The notes concluded with both governments determined to use poison gas. These notes were published at the time.

The document is part of a series being published by the State Department to put all of the war correspondence on record in chronological order.

Rescued New Yorkers To Resume Cruise

ERIE, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Three New Yorkers prepared to resume their cruise to the Chicago World's Fair today after being rescued by Coast Guards from their 35-foot cabin cruiser which struck a rock in the Lake Erie and sunk in shallow water yesterday.

Walter L. Durkin, city engineer, of New York City; his wife, and Henry Chafety, Brooklyn, N. Y., were the three rescued.

BELLEVUE POLICE MAKE OWN BULLETS

LIEUT. PRICE McPHERSON

They're .38 caliber and used only in target practice. More than 18,000 have been produced in the foundry. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

POLICE MAKE OWN BULLETS

Bellevue police are using home-made bullets for target practice.

So far this summer five members of the force have shot nearly 15,000 of them on their Union avenue range.

Lieut. Price McPherson, who started the bullet making, explained its advantages:

"They cost us but 42 cents a hundred; that is less than one-fourth the cost of buying them. We can have lots of gun practice at that price and the only way to learn to shoot is by practice."

Other policemen who make their own lead target bullets are Sergt. John McKissock, Fred Dauber, Charles Bradley and William Darling. Lieut. McPherson continued:

"We practice not to become crack shots but to learn how to use a gun with safety. Any one of us could shoot a bandit at 25 or 50 yards without endangering somebody else."

The lieutenant said they use the following bullet recipe:

1—Melt 16 parts of lead with one part of tin and mold into 150-grain bullets.

2—Size and lubricate the bullets.

3—Decap old shells, size casing and then recap them.

4—Load shell with four and one-tenth grains of powder.

PARIS GETS JAP PROTEST

TOKIO, Aug. 31.—(AP.)—Japan's opposition to the occupation by France of nine ownerless coral islands between the Philippines and French Indo-China has been communicated to Paris, the foreign office announced today.

It was authoritatively intimated that Japan claims sovereignty over at least six of the disputed islands, in which Japanese traders are interested, because of their guano and phosphate deposits and which France wants because they will make good bases for seaplanes and naval craft.

A foreign office spokesman said Renzo Sawada, charge d'affaires in Paris, on August 19 handed the French government a reply to the French communication concerning the recent occupation of the isles by France.

Beyond the fact that the French claims are firmly contested, the contents of the note were not disclosed by the spokesman.

It was learned Japan intends to claim sovereignty over the disputed islets on the basis of the Japanese phosphate gathering enterprises.

NOVEMBER MAY SEE DEATH OF DRY LAW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Prohibition could be voted out of the Constitution by November 8.

Twenty-two states, including Missouri in Saturday's election, already have given ballot approval to the Twenty-first Constitutional Amendment, which repeals the Eighteenth. None has voted the other way.

With 36 states needed to repeal, the following additional election dates have been definitely set:

Texas, August 26; Washington, August 29; Vermont, September 5; Maine, September 11; Maryland, Minnesota and Colorado, September 12; Idaho and New Mexico, September 19; Florida, October 19; Utah, North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania and Ohio, November 7.

Plans also have been made to obtain special elections in several others.

In Virginia, Gov. John G. Pollard has recommended to a special session of the Assembly that October 3 be named.

Another special session in Kentucky is considering November 7 for a vote, with approval likely. In adddition, Gov. O. K. Allen, of Louisiana, has announced he will call a special session for this purpose, but has named no date.

MISSOURI PLANS CONTROL

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Anti-prohibition leaders of Missouri, successful Saturday in their fight for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, today turned their attention to the formation of an organization which will suggest regulatory laws for traffic control in the state.

As the repealists announced their plans, unofficial reports from 3,500 of the state's 4,104 precincts showed 483,455 ballots for repeal and 135,400 against the action.

TEXAS VOTES SATURDAY

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Texas will decide Saturday at a state-wide election whether it shall join the unbroken line of 22 states voting for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or be the first to vote in the other direction.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard is in the midst of an intensive speaking campaign urging his native state to speak against taking prohibition from the nation's basic law. It was he who wrote the Constitutional amendment submitted by Congress to a vote of the states, and ratified, 14 years ago.

On the opposite stump are Congressman Joseph Weldon Bailey, of Dallas; former Gov. James E. Ferguson and others.

Simultaneously as they express themselves on national prohibition, Texas will say whether the state constitution shall be altered to permit the manufacture and sale of 3.2 per cent beer.

Vice President John N. Garner, vacationing at his Uvalde home, has issued an appeal to Texans to vote for repeal, but he has declined all invitations to make public addresses during the campaign. Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, like her husband, favors repeal.

URGE ZIONISTS QUIT GERMANY

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 21.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—A resolution recommending the removal of 250,000 Jews from Germany was ready for presentation tonight at the opening of the eighteenth World Zionist Congress.

Of this number 100,000 can be settled in Palestine, Dr. Arthur Ruppin, agricultural and colonization expert, believes. He and Nahum Sokolow, president of the World Zionist organization and of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, will present political and economic aspects of the German-Jewish situation at the coming session.

Other questions to be considered by the 332 delegates, including 29 from the United States, are Palestine immigration and the extent to which Palestine can afford a refuge to Jews of other countries.

World Boycott On Germany Urged

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Economic and diplomatic isolation of Germany was demanded by speakers at an emergency session of the National Executive Committee of the American Jewish Congress yesterday.

Bernard S. Deutsch, president of the congress, and Samuel Untermyer, noted attorney, both called for a boycott against German goods by all nations.

STANFORD MAN ON TRIAL IN 'TUB DEATH'

the Palo Alto home of Dr. Lamson to care for the motherless little Allene and for Dr. Lawson's adopted infant son.

Since then prosecution attaches say they have tried many times to talk to the maid but have never succeeded. They sought to interrogate her on her story that there were no controversies in the Lamson home, a story denied by a maid who worked for Miss Roberts for several weeks while the latter was ill.

Mrs. Chloe Roberts, the mother, was indignant when told that the girl was about to become a mother.

Defense Attorney E. M. Rea and his associates refused to discuss the turn the case has taken.

Sex and Science To Play Vital Part in Trial

By ERNESTINE BALL
International News Service.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 21.—Sex and science, key witnesses, stalked the crowded San Jose courtroom where David A. Lamson went on trial today for the murder of his pretty young wife, Allene.

No ordinary murder trial this. For background, picture the scholastic and social prestige of Stanford University, where David Lamson, brilliant 30-year-old Stanford graduate, held an executive position with the University Press.

Of that same background was demure Allene Lamson, Stanford graduate, looking at least 10 years younger than her 28 years, seemingly adored and adoring wife, mother of a 3-year-old baby daughter, salaried executive in the University Y. W. C. A.

On May 30, this same Allene Lamson was murdered or accidentally met her death in the bathroom of their campus home—a home so near that of former President Herbert Hoover that vagrant breezes carry the perfume of flowers from the Hoover estate to the cloistered Lamson garden.

Allene Lamson, so young, so sure that "God's in His Heaven, all's right with the world;" Allene, found on that May morning dead in the bathtub, discovered by her own husband, the water in the tub discolored with her life's blood, four dreadful wounds on her head. Today David Lamson comes before Superior Judge Robert R. Syer in a San Jose courtroom packed with men and women—grave faces, accusing eyes, blank expressions, a cross section of humanity in the mass preparing to sit in judgment upon his guilt or innocence.

From this venire of some hundred men and women the prosecution hopes to find 12 jurors who will believe that David Lamson bludgeoned his wife to death with a 10-inch length of finger-thick pipe—a pipe found in a bonfire in the rear of the Lamson home.

The prosecution will call the witness, science—in the person of various experts, to attempt to prove that the red stains on the iron pipe are infinitesimal blood drops from the life stream of that human organism that once was Allene Lamson.

SEX FACTOR AIRED

The prosecution will call the witness, sex—in the person of various experts, a former housemaid, business associates, to attempt to prove that frigidity and frustration had secretly turned this college campus home into a Freudian hell.

The defense will call the witness, science, in the person of the famous Berkeley criminologist, Edward O. Heinrich, to attempt to prove that Allene Lamson could have come to her death by accident, that the pool of blood on the bathroom floor, the other bloodstains could all be accounted for if she hit her head in the way they are prepared to show possible.

By chart and graph and microscope, by ballistics, by every known scientific gadget, science, speaking now for the defense, will maintain that the size of the bathroom, and of the pipe, would have made it impossible for anyone to strike blows to the death in the manner claimed by the prosecution. The witness, science, still speaking for the defense, will also defy the idea that the red stains on the pipe can scientifically be proved human blood.

DEFENSE PLANS

The defense will have to call the witness, sex.

Strangely enough it is possible that the family of David Lamson would like the witness, sex, called into court this very day. The Lamsons will all be there in court today—and one member of the family, at least, might well be delighted that shameless rumor must now submit to the acid test of legal evidence.

That one is Dr. Margaret Lamson, other sister of David Lamson, herself a Stanford graduate, a practicing physician, and now dedicated to the task of proving her brother innocent.

A disciplined mind, a woman with the human touch that has built up a growing practice around Stanford University, she must know that whispers rampant have grapevined their way from the academic reticence of Stanford, where college professors and their wives refuse to discuss the case in public and talk of little else in private.

Perhaps David Lamson will see little when he comes into court this morning. At the preliminary trial he had eyes only for his family—his two sisters, his aged mother, Mrs. Genevieve Lamson, and once or twice when she was brought into court, his baby girl, Allene Genevieve Lamson.

3 Blasts Raze House Corners, 4th Falls

LISBON, Vt., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—An oil stove in the home of E. J. Sawyer, of Lisbon, exploded yesterday, setting fire to, and burning away one corner of the house. Just as the fire was under control the kitchen water tank blew up, blowing away another corner of the house. A few minutes later a gas range exploded, tearing away the third corner. The other corner then fell of its own accord.

Woman's Scream Frightens Off Wild Bull

WARWICK, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The moral of this story would appear to be that a woman's scream is sharper than the prongs of a pitchfork.

When an enraged bull attacked James Ball yesterday, the latter's brother, George, attempted to turn the beast aside by jabbing it with a pitchfork. He was not having much success when his wife appeared on the scene and let go with a few piercing shrieks.

The bull, which had ignored the pitchfork thrusts, turned one startled look in the direction of Mrs. Ball and then fled to the far end of the pasture. James suffered bruises and lacerations.

Fight Over Beer Fatal, One Held

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—A fist fight over what he termed an untimely request for beer landed Charles J. Granese, former councilman of Bridgeport, near here, in jail where he is being held without bail in connection with the death of John Burns, 45, of Port Providence.

Police held Granese after they said he admitted striking Burns because the latter became abusive on being refused beer, which he and two companions demanded from Granese at an early hour yesterday.

WIDOW OF SLAIN DOCTOR MUM

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 21.—Hope of solving the mysterious murder of Dr. James I. Gaines with information held by his widow, Lyly, is fading, police said today.

Detective Capt. James McCarry announced Mrs. Gaines appeared voluntarily and submitted to a brief examination.

Beyond retelling the circumstances under which she found her mortally wounded husband in the driveway of their home last Tuesday, she had little to offer, McCarry said.

Prefacing her story with the simple statement, "I loved my husband," the pretty young widow said she knew of no other woman in her husband's life and that she never was jealous of him.

Mrs. Gaines sobbed throughout the interview.

Mrs. Harriette Andrew, held since Tuesday as a material witness, has been released. She was detained after it was learned Dr. Gaines, a wealthy sportsman and drugless practitioner, left her apartment 10 minutes before he was shot.

URGES NEW HALL IN M'KEESPORT

A new city hall and a city-owned electrical plant were advocated for McKeesport by John B. Sweeney, candidate for mayor, last night.

He spoke at a meeting sponsored by the Better Government Club of McKeesport and attended by most of the city's candidates for office.

Answering Sweeney, Mayor George Lysle pointed to the economy of the present City Hall and asserted a city-built electrical plant could not legally serve the consumer. Supporting his own campaign, he cited the city's growth in the last eight years, when 8,000 population was added, he said.

2 SHOT IN GEM ROBBER CHASE

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Two men, one a summer cottager and the other one of the men nominated as intermediary in the recent O'Connell kidnaping case, were shot about midnight Saturday when state police engaged in a running gun battle with robbers who stole a safe containing diamonds valued at $2,000.

The safe was dumped out of the robbers' automobile during the chase. It was taken from the home of John J. Kelliher, Fort Edward sportsman.

Troopers gave chase, missed the safe as it was dumped into the road, and fired many bullets. The car was abandoned and the bandits fled into a swamp. Troopers later found a man they identified as William Martin, of Albany, with a bullet wound in the hip. Martin was one of the intermediaries suggested in behalf of Lieut. John J. O'Connell, 24, nephew of Ed and Dan O'Connell, Albany county political leaders, who was kidnaped and held prisoner 23 days last month.

The other wounded man was Reid Arnold, 65, of Ballston Spa, who rushed from his summer camp, on Saratoga Lake, to see what the shooting was about.

"I'M 'SPOILED' NOW FOR ANY CAR BUT Plymouth"

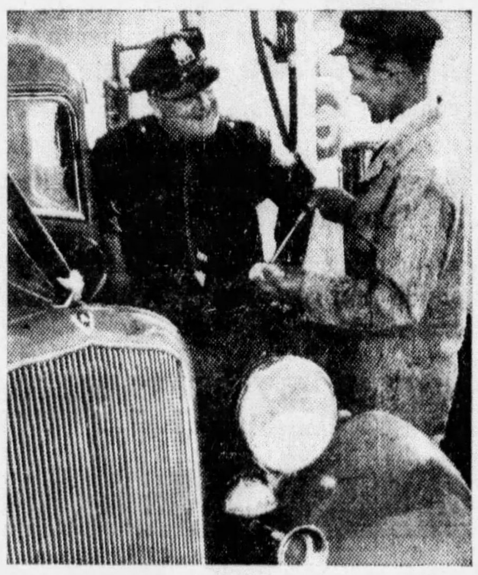
A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH OFFICER HARVEY HAYES, DELAWARE STATE POLICE STATION No. 2, WILMINGTON, DELAWARE

"Speed? Pick-up? I had one of the boys clock me. She's good for 60 in second—85 in high!"



"Most cars eat oil at that speed—but not this baby. When I check up—my gauge reads 'full'."

"70-horsepower. Some power plant there, boy! And it doesn't keep you broke running it either."

"How do the boys like it? Say, there are eleven of us here at the station... and six of us have Plymouths of our own! And we get plenty of chance to judge cars on this job!"

"I Couldn't Stand My Old Car after Driving a Plymouth on Duty"

THEY'VE had three Plymouths at Station No. 2. Hard-riding Harvey Hayes drives one of them—when he isn't on a motorcycle.

And pushing his own "old crate" home (to use his words) didn't thrill him any after riding behind Floating Power from noon till midnight.

Now he has his own Plymouth. So have five others out of the eleven men at his station.

As Officer Hayes put it, they're all "spoiled" for anything else now—after learning first hand how Plymouth flashes away on pick-up, slips in and out of traffic, and brakes to smooth, quick, even stops in the tight spots.

Unless you're a state policeman, you may never get to put Plymouth's accelerator "down to the floor-boards." It has far more speed than you'll ever use in ordinary driving.

But you can sample Floating Power engine mountings—hydraulic brakes—rigid-X double-drop frame. You can see how smooth Plymouth is—how easily it handles—how quickly it responds to your foot on the accelerator. Just "look at all three" low-priced cars... ride in them and compare them.

Start looking now—prove Plymouth out on the road, and see for yourself what each low-priced car offers you for your money. There's a liberal education in car values in that way of buying.

CUBA KEEPS UP MANHUNT FOR MACHADISTS

HAVANA, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Punishment for leaders of a hate-crazed mob which took from its new grave the body of Gerardo Machado's police chief and burned and mutilated it was demanded today by several departments of the week-old Cuban government.

As the cabinet of Carlos Manuel De Cespedes tried to solve the hard problems of economic peace, there were other evidences of continuing hatred of the previous regime.

A manhunt for the few remaining Machadists went on; leaders of the opposition who had been forced into exile were coming back, and soldiers and members of the ABC secret society began digging again in Atares Castle for bodies of those who died because of opposition to the Machado regime.

Antonio B. Ainciart, villified as the director of bloody and repressive measures under the deposed president, committed suicide Saturday night while soldiers and ABC men closed in on his hiding place.

As soon as soldiers left his place of burial 2,000 shouting persons opened the fresh grave, took the body in a truck to Havana University, mutilated it, and hoisted it to the cross bar of an electric light pole.

Thousands watched the mob pour gasoline over it and apply a match. Finally the crew of an ambulance scattered the crowd and took the body to a morgue. The mob shouted:

"Dump it into the sea! Dump it into the sea! He is not fit to be buried in a cemetery with other human beings!"

Shortly before the mob began forming, Juan Sampol, nephew and bodyguard of Ainciart, shot and killed himself after being recognized by a boy on a street corner. First, however, Sampol had killed Jose Aquirre Leon, ABC member.

Santiago Mob Slays Henchman of Ortiz

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Julio Heredia, former henchman of Arsenio Ortiz, military official in the Machado regime, who was accused of numerous political killings, was shot and killed by a mob today.

The body was dragged through the streets. The mob captured Heredia after he had been taken from the courthouse by members of the ABC Society, which was one of the principal organizations in the overthrow of President Machado.

Maj. Ortiz sailed for Germany last June, having been exiled by the government after numerous killings of which he was accused.

Cubans May Invite American Assistance

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(INS.)—A report from Ambassador Sumner Welles indicating the Cuban government will soon invite an American commission of financial and economic experts to visit Havana and aid in economic rehabilitation of the island republic was received at the State Department today.

The report said the Cuban government desired to have such a commission visit Havana if President Roosevelt had no objections.

The report will be sent to Hyde Park for Mr. Roosevelt's consideration.

American investments in Cuba total more than $1,000,000,000.

Eight-Mile Range Of 'Yea-Hooer' Jolts City

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 21.—(INS.)—In Danville, Ky., where Lee Chrisman's voice is known, it doesn't cause any uproar when it reverberates over the hills.

But here, folks aren't accustomed to the eight-mile range of the "yea-hoo" artist, and many Cincinnati residents were still wondering today what the commotion was all about yesterday.

After the champion's performance, calls flooded newspaper offices. People asked the whereabouts of the fire, how much damage the storm had done, or if there had been an earthquake.

And Chrisman admitted modestly that he was a trifle hoarse, so naturally wasn't up to his best.

IL DUCE ASKED TO CURB NAZIS

VIENNA, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Political circles, taking cognizance of Chancellor Englebert Dollfuss' hurried visit to Italy for a conference with Premier Mussolini, inclined to the belief today that the Chancellor has abandoned his policy of friendship with Germany.

Rather, these quarters think, Dollfuss is trying to win the Italian Premier to concerted action by big European powers against what the Austrian government characterizes as German interference through broadcasts with Austrian internal political affairs.

Many Austrian newspapers have demanded that the administration bring about the intervention of the League of Nations, but Dollfuss so far has refused to adopt such a course.

The present Austro-German situation arose because of the banning of the Nazi party in Austria, retaliatory visas by both countries, the broadcasts, and the arrest in Vienna and Berlin of newspapermen and diplomatic attaches of the other country.

ANN HARDING :-: Stage and Screen Star In Hollywood Broadcast :-: ON AIR TONIGHT

'So-and-So' Trio Opens New Series

Ann Harding and William Gargan lead the microphone parade of screen stars heard on WCAE's Hollywood program at midnight tonight.

The "So-and-So" trio and the WCAE Troubadours make their bow in a new program of close harmony, for commercial reasons featuring a new song, "Let's Make Up." From tonight on, they are heard over WCAE Monday and Wednesday nights at 8:30.

* * *

Music in the Air

Monday night is melody night on the air. The Country Club, Ferde Grofe, Gypsies, Melody Moments, Contented Hour, Andre Kostelanetz, Gustav Haenschen, and Howard Barlow orchestras offer musical entertainment ranging from "Alexander's Ragtime Band" to Bizet's Pastorale.

Andre Kostelanetz puts in a busy night, conducting a program of American and Russian folk songs at 8:45, and a concert featuring Gladys Rice and Evan Evans at 10. Both are WJAS listings.

The Columbia Symphony Orchestra's "pop" (popular music) concert heard over WJAS at 10:45 offers a program of the lighter compositions of Beethoven, Bizet, Brahms and Strauss.

* * *

Drama Thrillers

"Under Two Flags," WCAE's sabre-rattling Foreign Legion serial, heard at 8, and "Death on Gowdy Street," a Columbia radio play heard over WJAS at 10, are the dramatic highlights of the evening.

Baby Rose Marie revives an old-time tear jerker, "There's a Broken Heart for Every Light on Broadway," singing over KDKA at 7:15.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band," an old Irving Berlin success, is revived with a vengeance. Singin' Sam sings it on his 8:15 WJAS show; the Gypsies play it over WCAE at 9.

* * *

Program Switch

The Country Club program, heard on the CBS-WJAS network all summer, switches to NBC-KDKA tonight at 7:30. Grantland Rice, Mary McCoy, Betty Barthell and Leith Stevens are the principal features.

Radio Networks to Combine For All-Star Broadcasts To Push NRA Drive

By AIRCASTER

The enterprising members of the National Recovery Administration have arrived at the conclusion that what this country needs is bigger and better radio programs—if such programs can assist in the success of the NRA movement.

It would be a good idea, the administrators figured, if radio, stage and screen could devote frequent intervals to the injection of entertainment and celebrated personalities for the purpose of keeping public interest at a high pitch.

So they got into touch with the major networks to see how their headmen felt about the idea of co-operation.

The result was a huddle of executives of the NBC and the CBS, and the large independent stations, out of which grew a plan for weekly mergers of the chains, for the purpose of combining their best talent in air shows that will knock the audience in the aisles, or at least out of their rocking chairs.

Very probably, within the fortnight, the audience will be bending its ears to a blanket broadcast, bristling with big names and big features, much along the lines of the unemployment benefit broadcasts staged at the suggestion of former President Hoover.

In view of this ambitious enterprise, it has become necessary for the NRA to appoint an entertainers' committee, which has the title of "radio, stage and screen national committee, of the NRA." Notification of the selection of the basic group to serve under this title was sent out to the members yesterday.

Kate Smith gets the honor of the chairmanship. The others named are Marion Davies, Walter Damrosch, Otis Skinner, Lawrence Tibbett, Rudy Vallee and Peggy Wood.

Cantor Delayed

Eddie Cantor may not return to the Sunday coffee hour with Rubinoff, on September 3, as scheduled.

Because Cantor is delayed on a film, it was arranged last week that Rubinoff should go to the West Coast, and that the Cantor broadcasts should emanate from California. But the sponsors have given the matter more thought, and it is now their notion that Cantor cannot give his best while doing a picture at the same time, and so it is not impossible that the present set-up without Cantor, may continue for 12 more weeks, broadcasting from the Times Square studio.

Whiteman 'Rival'

It was just about a year ago that a young musician of Albany, who had the forethought long ago to patent or copyright the title "King of Jazz," up and sued Paul Whiteman for infringing on it.

The Albany lad was ambitious and wanted $175,000.

Whiteman thereafter blossomed fourth as the "dean of modern music," but the suit persisted. This week, the attorneys of Whiteman settled with the plaintiff. The Albany fellow collected—$250.

Local Highlights on WJAS Tonight

Jeanne Galbraith makes her bow with the DeMallo string group as accompanists in an early evening feature.

Two other early high spots are the piano capers of Marie Gunst and the tango music of the Three Bridges.

Paul Gannon sings "Until" as the high spot of his 6:45 program.

Eddie Peyton promises a unique medley of best-known "blues" tunes during his 11:30 dance program.

Globe-Trotting

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

A strange letter today. A man tells me that his wife is extremely nervous and can't stand any excitement. His neighbor, he says, devises ways in which to annoy the family next door. The wife is on the verge of a breakdown, yet she is disturbed by the barking of tormented dogs, or children lustily beating sticks on tin pans at all hours.

Perhaps the noisy neighbor doesn't know of the wife's precarious state of health and thinks her husband is just a crab in demanding that the children forego their noisy pastimes and stubbornly encourages them to continue. Maybe this item will help to explain.

* * *

Got to treat the police right. Here's a complaint. When I said that the Traffic Division defeated No. 5 station's mushball team, I didn't mention that Jack Wachter, star pitcher, was laid up in Mercy Hospital. A postcard from the station house says that's why they are not winning.

Mr. Parker, you and a good many others would declare me the greatest benefactor of the race if I could give you the advice you seek. (Mr. Parker, of Phillips avenue, wants a good cure for hay fever).

You ought to see Chilly Doyle. He sniffs around here with his eyes all watery looking like he always does when the Pirates lose a game. He won't utter a word, just moans, between applications of his portable atomizer.

However, it might be a good idea to find out what gives afflicted globe-trotters relief.

Should Wife Stick to Abusive Mate for Children's Sake?

Should the home be held together—at any cost—"for the sake of the children?"

And if it is, what will be the effect on those children?

Will they be infinitely better off having a father—even if that father is abusive, quarrelsome, often fuddled with drink?

Or will they thrive better alone with mother?

Those are questions that are causing plenty of bitter argument, in this age of New Freedom, Divorce Mills and Baby Criminals.

They are questions, too, that Life has put squarely up to Mina Roberts.

Twelve years ago she married Bill. When they went to the altar together, he was apparently a fine, upstanding young man. He had worked hard, he seemed steady. But in time, he drifted into the wrong crowd. He began to drink. And when she tried to stop him, he said she was "being bossy." He grew resentful. Ugly. He drank more and more. He began to seem to enjoy heckling her . . . humiliating her. Her love for him died. Now they fight like cat and dog.

THREE CHILDREN

Why didn't she leave him, long ago?

Partly because she believed that marriage was for keeps, come what might, and that it was up to her to stick it out, even if it was a bad bargain.

But mostly because of the children.

There are three of them now. The oldest is 10. The youngest is 4. And Mina told herself that she couldn't break up the home, on account of them. She is still telling herself that. "Thinking I must endure it. The children need a father, as well as a mother. When they are grown, I can look back and be glad that I didn't let them down . . . that I sacrificed myself, stood his abuse, so they wouldn't have the humiliation of a divorce in the family, so they wouldn't be unbalanced by having only me to train them."

WHAT IS BEST?

So—her little boy and her two little girls are living in the midst of bitterness, resentment, turmoil, drunken tantrums . . . and becoming "punch drunk" from emotional battering—

Is that best for them? Will keeping Papa in the picture help them to grow into sane, well-balanced men and women . . . happier than they would be if Mother walked out with them, and went on alone?

Or will it brand them with a dreadful, twisted picture of life and marriage, and destroy their chances of ever living normally themselves?

What's your answer?

Maybe you grew up in a home like that . . .

Or maybe you grew up in a "broken" home.

If so—let's have your story.

OH JOY! OH JOY!
OH, HOW MY POOR FEET LONG TO GET BACK INTO THEIR GOOD OLD PEDAL PASTURES AGAIN!
OUCH! OH! OW!

By FAY KING.

One thing I hoard like a miser would his gold, and that is an old, comfortable pair of shoes.

I have discarded one such pair at least a dozen times, only to rush and retrieve them in glee, before they get away.

The other day I took a disreputable pair to the shoemaker. When I got them back, all toed and heeled and relined, I had to take a three-mile walk to work. Oh; my joy and enthusiasm.

Of course, I have some sitting-shoes for the sake of a few fastidious friends. They are all right for sitting in, but not for walking on.

My pets are my old museum shoes, as I affectionately call them, perfect for painless mileage.

I love them.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Limiting Losers

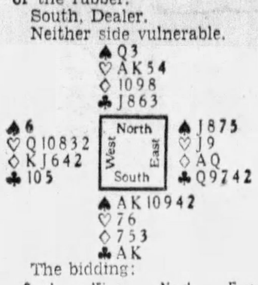
When a player finds that one opponent holds an uncatchable trump honor, we must then carefully count his losers in the plain suits in order to determine whether there is a method by which the impossible may be accomplished in order that his contract may be fulfilled. Sometimes even when there is no trump left in the Dummy, an apparently "uncatchable" honor may be captured by the simple process of shortening the Declarer's trump holding. The method of play is simple, but often appears too difficult to the novice and sometimes even to the expert.

Take as an example the hand below played in a recent rubber game. It was the first hand of the rubber.

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 2 ♡ (1) | Pass |
| 3 ♠ (2) | Pass | 4 ♠ (3) | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

1—North's hand is too strong for one notrump, and while the balanced pattern suggests two notrump as an alternative bid, actually the compromise bid of two hearts is not at all bad, particularly in view of the fact that North holds some sort of a fit with his partner's hand, due to the presence of the Queen of spades in his holdings.

2—South's hand it not quite strong enough to contract for game on the basis of his partner's regulation Takeout. It is, however, strong enough to invite his partner to bid game if holding any undisclosed values.

3—The Queen and one spade are sufficient to justify a Raise, and North, with 2½ honor-tricks, must be willing to play for game.

When the Dummy was laid down, after West had made the Opening lead of the club Ten, the contract appeared to be absolutely safe with anything but the most unfavorable distribution. Seemingly South should make six spades, the Ace-King of hearts and the Ace-King of clubs. The Knave of clubs was played from Dummy, East covered with the Queen and South won the trick with the King. A small spade was now led to the Queen in Dummy, and the trump suit returned. It now was apparent that East held a trump trick which, with three losing tricks in diamonds, meant the defeat of the contract. South must now plan the play of the hand to avert the loss of one of his apparently sure losers.

His next play was the Ace of clubs, in pursuance of the plan to shorten his own trump holding. He then entered the Dummy by leading a low heart, and led a club from Dummy, which he ruffed from his own hand. Another heart put the Dummy in for the lead of the fourth club. This the Declarer ruffed. His hand now consisted of the major tenace in trumps and three losing diamonds. A small diamond was led, which East won with the Queen. East then laid down the Ace of diamonds. Now the success of South's contract was assured. East returned a club, and South ruffed with the Ten, then cashed the Ace and conceded the last trick to West.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Both sides vulnerable.
The bidding:

| East | West |
|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | 2 ♠ |
| 3 ♣ | 3 ♠ |
| 3 NT | 4 ♠ |
| Pass | |

You, South, hold:

♠864 ♡AJ9 ◇J53 ♣KQ109

What do you lead?

Answer: A small spade. From the bidding it is quite clear that the West hand is very weak in honor strength and that the original Raise was based purely and simply on distribution. In other words, the chief value of the Dummy to Declarer will be in its ruffing power. It seems quite probable that with your strength in back of the Opening bidder you and your partner will be able to take four tricks and thus defeat the contract—provided too many losers are not ruffed in Dummy. Therefore you must lead a trump at the first opportunity, to cut down the ruffing power, and you must lead a second and third round of trumps when and if you get in again.

Given in Marriage -:- A Sequel to Heart Of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Veritzen Offers to Bargain With the Young Lovers

I saw Noel Veritzen's fingers clench into his palms as his father asked him what he would do if he should insist upon Mary's going to Paris immediately. I knew that he was utterly at sea concerning his father's intentions—whether he meant the question as an ultimatum or simply as a test—and that he feared the wrong answer might completely antagonize the elder man.

But he did not hesitate. With his head thrown back he faced his father, and I privately thought he looked a "very parfait gentil knight."

"When Mary goes to Paris, I go," he said. "That's the reason I want to marry her right away, so that if you insist upon sending her now, I can go with her and take care of her."

There was a hint of cruelty in the elder man's smile.

"I didn't know you were so old-fashioned, Noel," he said. "Modern girls don't relish protection."

Noel looked tenderly across at his fiancee.

"Any girl as beautiful as Mary needs protection in Paris, or any other city," he said.

"Thank you, dear. And I always feel so safe when I am with you," Mary murmured.

Mr. Veritzen was speaking again. This time his voice was drawling, quizzical.

"May I ask what you intend to do with your operetta, and the lecture engagements I secured for you, if you go to Paris with Mary in three weeks?"

NOEL IS SORRY

"I shall have to cancel them," Noel replied quietly.

"The mere fact that I have invested a goodly sum in the production of the operetta, and that I practically pledged my word for your lecture appearances—these things count as nothing with you?" The voice held an edge now.

"I'm sorry father." Noel's voice was stubborn. "I would not let you down for anything in the world except this. And—forgive me!—if this were something that would mean the success or failure of Mary's stage career, I might be willing to yield my judgment and sacrifice my inclination to your will. But I cannot help feeling that she would gain just as much advantage if this trip is postponed until a few months from now, when I can be free to go with her without detriment to the things that you have so kindly planned for me. Won't you reconsider your decision, father?"

The boy's voice was so filled with pathos and yearning that I did not see how any father could have been deaf to it, but Philip Veritzen only looked at his boy steadily, with an inscrutable expression in his eyes.

"I'll make a bargain with you, Noel," he said, after a pause. "I will postpone Mary's trip for six months, if you will agree to postpone your marriage for the same period."

GIVEN ORDERS

Now, what did he mean by that? I asked myself this question while the fateful words still hung in the air. Was he exacting this promise because he thought Mary's career demanded that the distractions of marriage be kept from her as long as possible, or was this simply another clever move in his apparently determined plan to separate Noel and Mary forever?

I glanced obliquely at Lillian. Whatever effect his words had upon her secret opinion of her old friend, her outward reaction to it was prompt and decided.

"Don't answer that yet, Noel!" she said, explosively. "Even if you have decided the thing already, you mustn't voice it until you have thought it over more carefully. Suppose you and Mary beat it now, and park yourselves once more in the Underwood apartment. We'll call you when we need you."

She went over to them, grasped them by the arms and rushed them to the door in highly efficient if somewhat rough fashion. When she had thrust them through it and closed the door after them, she turned to us with sparkling eyes and militant mien.

"Phil, old darling," she said, "you'd better supple your muscles and test your hammer locks, for you and I, sweetheart, are going to the mat in another two seconds—and I don't mean maybe!"

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Bronchitis Is Too Often Neglected

To take stock of ourselves once in a while is a good thing to do. No doubt many of you suffer from certain disorders yet you pay little attention to them. If you have no pain or marked discomfort, you never think of your body.

Dr. Copeland

This is unwise. Many ailments are painless yet when neglected they do great damage to the body. Attended to at the proper time they are gotten rid of, as they should be.

It is probable that of all the chronic diseases, bronchitis is the one most often overlooked. This is unfortunate. Continued neglect of chronic bronchitis may lead to serious disorders of the heart, lungs and other organs.

As its name implies, chronic bronchitis is a persistent inflammation of the bronchial tubes. It is a common affliction of middle age, but may occur in young adults and in children. It usually follows a winter cold and cough and continues through the winter months. Severe cases may last all the year.

The sufferer from chronic bronchitis has difficulty in breathing. He complains of shortness of breath upon the slightest exertion. There is a constant wheezing in the chest and the patient is made uncomfortable by a hacking and persistent cough.

Spasmodic attacks of coughing is a common complaint in this annoying disorder. The face becomes reddish-purple and the victim is only relieved when he "brings up" large amounts of mucus.

As a rule, repeated violent attacks of coughing leave the sufferer in a weakened and exhausted state. The severe coughing and hacking place a strain upon the muscles of the heart. Indeed, most sufferers from chronic bronchitis have enlargement of the heart. Eventually the heart muscle weakens and then signs of heart failure appear. Unless the strain is removed, the heart may become so weakened that it is unable to carry on its work.

Chronic bronchitis is often traced to neglect of the teeth and to faulty hygiene of the mouth. All infected and decayed teeth should be removed as soon as possible. Many times relief follows the removal of enlarged and diseased tonsils.

If you suffer from chronic bronchitis do not accept it as a trivial ailment. Consult with your physician. Follow his directions and advice. It is a disease that ought not to be neglected.

Answers to Health Queries

J. P. K. Q.—I have "itching" spells which seem to attack different parts of the body, keeping up for half an hour or more at a time. There is no sign of a rash. What would you advise?

A.—This may be due to nervousness. For further instructions send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

E. M. C. Q.—What do you advise for falling hair? 2.—What causes head noises?

A.—Brush the hair daily and use a good tonic. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question. 2.—This is often due to nasal catarrh which has extended to the middle ear.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Use the Fork

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In a recent discussion with several friends, I seemed to be the only one against a group of seven men and women. I contend that asparagus is eaten with a fork, also that a club sandwich is eaten with a knife and a fork. My friends insist that asparagus, club sandwiches, chicken and lamb chops may be taken up with the fingers and eaten in that manner.

I claim that outside of a very few exceptions, such as open sandwiches, olives, radishes and artichokes, all food should be eaten with a fork, and a knife, if necessary.

Will you please let me know who is correct? L.

You are right, on all counts. And I hope the bet is a large one, so that you will be well rewarded for your sure taste and judgment about correct eating!

Asparagus is eaten with a fork. It's too drippy to be eaten in the fingers. Club sandwiches, chicken, lamb chops demand that we use the knife and fork if we would be considered even tolerably well-mannered. It's a most unpleasant experience to sit opposite a person who takes a piece of chicken in the fingers, and it's a devastating experience to watch a person gnaw a lamb chop.

Generally speaking, foods are divided into "moist foods" and "dry foods," and generally speaking we eat moist foods with a fork or with a knife and a fork as they suggest for their convenience. Naturally there are exceptions. Artichokes, which you mention, are one of the exceptions, and so is corn on the cob, unless we insist on using the silver holders. Olives, radishes are eaten in the fingers. When we eat sandwiches at a tea party, buffet party or other kind of stand-up party, naturally we eat them in our fingers, and naturally they should be sandwiches conveniently made for this. When sandwiches are served at table, either rather simple ones or more complicated ones like club sandwiches, we eat them with our fork or with our knife and fork. Dry cookies or small cakes are eaten in the fingers, but layer cake or other kinds of moist cake should be eaten with the fork.

It's always well to remember those wise words of Ward MacAllister, "If possible, use a fork!"

Many social registerites who have been summering in New England and others in Canada will be in Kennebunkport Me., this afternoon to attend the wedding of charming Katharine Collin and Robert R. Forrester, Jr., to take place in St. Ann's By-the-Sea in Kennebunkport. Katharine is the oldest daughter of the junior W. W. Collins, of Sewickley, who have their summer home in Kennebunkport.

The bride, with her ivory skin, glossy black hair, and vivacious personality, is one of the most attractive girls in the social set.

She will wear a regal gown of white satin, made in princess style with a train. The quaint sleeves, suggestive of the Victorian era, will have insets of old lace. Her veil of exquisite lace will cascade from a simple headdress. Pearls will be her only ornament and she will carry white orchids and gardenias.

Quaint Sleeves

Her maid of honor will be her sister, Georgianna Collin, a post-debutante. And Helen and Betsy Collin, two little sisters of the bride, will be flower girls.

Mr. Forrester, the son of Mrs. Harry A. Wilson, of New York, and of Robert R. Forrester, of New York, will have Harry A. Wilson as his best man, and Daniel Ellis Woodhull, Jr., Dexter Spear French, Robert Bogue Bell and Howard S. Lipson, all of the East, as ushers.

A reception in the Casino will follow the strikingly simple church ceremony.

Simple Ceremony

The bride of this afternoon is a member of the Pittsburgh Junior League, and made her debut in 1929 after finishing at Westover.

Mr. Forrester was graduated from Harvard in 1930. When in college, he was a member of the Harvard Lampoon staff. His clubs include the Harvard club of New York and he's a member of Squadron A.

Among the Pittsburgh and Sewickley guests who will attend are the George H. Clapps, Mrs. Tracy Guthrie, the William Galbraiths, the Miller Wardrops, Rosamound Fitch; Miss Margaret Holdship, Mary Colwell Jennings, Laura B. Childs, Molly Cullum, of Reading, formerly of Pittsburgh; J. Merrill Wright, Jr., William W. Quay, the Harry A. Wilsons, Paul Petersen and Edwin P. Wanner.

The John W. Cappeaus, of Sewickley, with their sub-deb daughters, Betty and Nancy, sailed for Europe Friday night after a brief stay at the St. Regis, in New York.

William Weiler, and Mrs. Weiler, of East McIntyre avenue, North Side, to Homer Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wagner, of Canton, Mo. Officiating was the bride's father and the Rev. Dr. Emil Klotz, district superintendent. Miss Leone Armstrong gave an organ recital from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

The church was decorated with ferns and palms. The bride wore blue lace over blue satin and carried white roses. The maid of honor, Miss Pearl Weiler, sister of the bride, wore honey colored flat crepe and carried Johanna Hill roses. The bridesmaids all wore chiffon gowns with velvet sashes. They were Miss Martha Stinson, of Evansville, Ind., who wore pink; Miss Marjory Claire, yellow; Miss Phyllis Schaale, green, and Miss Rose McCann, orchid. They all wore corsages of pink rosebuds.

County Scouts Assemble Interesting Exhibit Of Work for Fair

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Allegheny County Girl Scouts have assembled an interesting exhibit for display at the three-day County Fair in South Park beginning August 31. All sorts of things have been evolved by the girls, who have let their fancy and their fingers run riot. Most artistic perhaps is the metal work, of which there are dainty little individual salt dishes and spoons, teapot stands, trays and some particularly attractive bracelets.

There's a twine belt very nicely made and finished, some especially good looking leather work, notably pocketbooks, and there's a pretty little rag rug that any home would be proud to own. Bookends and door stops and letter holders are among the painted wooden articles that will be seen in the exhibit. An old jar has been covered with pieces of envelope lining in a neat design and shellacked and this, too, will be part of the display.

But a scrap book called by its owner and compiler "Literary eLaves" and indexed to suit its title is one of the most important contributions to the display. Its lettering is beautifully done and its contents well arranged.

Scholarship Group Elects Officers On Thursday

Allegheny County Scholarship Association will have its annual business meeting and election of officers at 10 o'clock Thursday in the Administration Building of the Board of Education, Bellefield avenue.

The young women to whom the Allegheny County Scholarship Association made awards last year were graduated with high honors from their respective schools and are now holding positions. Several scholarships have been awarded this summer through the agencies connected with the Association.

Ligonier Woman's Club Makes Garden Awards

The Ligonier Woman's Club has again made its cup awards for lawns and flower and vegetable gardens in the town, County Agent W. L. Treager making the inspection. Anyone winning the cup in the same class for three successive years retains permanent possession of the trophy.

Clarence McDowell, Casper Frye and Harry Brant won the vegetable garden awards; in the flower garden class awards went to Denny Piper, Mrs. John Paul Jones, Mrs. Charles Ambrose, Mrs. E. E. McAdoo and Mrs. James Mull. In the home lawns class, Henry Rhody, Mr. Piper, Edward Casey and George Naugle won the awards. Four awards were made for public lawns, also.

Winners in the children's gardens will not be announced until September 9, when the club will have its annual luncheon and flower show to inaugurate the season.

A dinner in the Wardell Hotel in Detroit followed the ceremony. Mr. McAlonan and his bride will live in Detroit.

THE FASHIONS FOR WINTER ARE MOST ELABORATE AND ELEGANT

THE REVIVAL of elegance gives us all something to rejoice about. Women are wildly enthusiastic, as one can gather from their reception of the lavish furs that made their early debut in advance of a winter mode that promises to grow increasingly elegant.

* * *

WOMEN ENJOY looking luxurious. Instead of the impression of casualness of the past season's clothes, well-dressed women of the near future will give the impression of long study and carefulness in assembling! It's a welcome metamorphosis.

* * *

WITH DRESSES becoming slimmer in line, the lightweight coat of flat furs will be most popular. However, the three-quarter length topcoat, also in flat furs, is the classic type you may expect to see everywhere this fall and winter, for the street, football games and sports events. No matter how informal the outfit, this sort of coat will always look right. If of certain furs, like caracul, beaver, astrakhan and kid, it will be equally correct over more formal town clothes. The proper accent of more formal accessories will accomplish the transformation.

* * *

MANY WOMEN order this same three-quarter length coat made up in ermine for evening when the fur is worked with much more extravagance. Larger quantities of seven-eighths and instep-length coats will be seen too . . . these follow the tubular silhouette of the gowns they're worn over. A magnificent coat of ermine, illustrated in the accompanying sketch, has rare simplicity that is really the most subtle of all types of elegance.

* * *

HUDSON AND Alaska seal are still strong. Frequently they're lined and trimmed with bright-colored woolens, to match dresses. Or, in duvetyne, a fabric that will undoubtedly become prominent this fall.

* * *

BRIGHT DRESSES under dark fur coats will prove a good formula. One very effective combination is the dress of sapphire blue worn under a black caracul coat. This season, more than ever, the skins are handled like fabrics. Most designers have done away with actual broad shoulders, except to use fur in such a way that it creates emphasis on the shoulders. The exquisitely moulded caracul coat in the illustration is an outstanding example.

* * *

TO WEAR with these coats, some toques of fur or with fur trimmings are already seen. Monkey fur, as we've reported to you once before, is often used to simulate feathers. Other fashion points worth knowing: Some fur coats have separate capelets or scarfs meant for double duty. They're effective over dresses or collarless coats. . . . Silver fox capes have built a permanent place for themselves. This winter you'll see six or seven of them mounted on cire satin or velvet, to wear in the evening. . . . Chinchilla, the most luxurious of furs, has invaded the afternoon mode. . . . Muffs are still in the fashion picture. . . . Dark mink still sits on a throne. Very few furs seem able to take away from its prominence. Caracul has a very close second place, and a fur called Breitschwanz is slowing creeping into the race.

AIMEE RESENTS INTRODUCTION AS ACTRESS

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The ire of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, famed woman evangelist, continued to burn today against a description of her as "a good actress and a clever showman."

Her immediate retort after an introduction including that phrase by George Claassen, president of the Linn County Bar Association, at a lawyers' dinner, was "I have never had such an introduction before in 26 years as an evangelist and I am cross."

Claassen also referred to her as "the most widely advertised woman evangelist in all history."

DEFENDS HER FAITH

At a religious gathering later she said:

"If it had been me I would have just curled up and nearly died; but when they attacked Christ, all the blood of my ancestors for generations rises in my veins, and I must stand up and defend my faith."

At the religious meetings she is conducting here, she planned to repeat during the day her assertion that Claassen had "put Christ under fire" and she was retaliating for that.

Claassen, meantime, stood by his guns and declared he "told the truth." Before calling on her to speak Saturday, Claassen whispered, according to Mrs. Hutton, "Don't mind when I introduce you. I understand you are a good sport and can defend yourself."

SURPRISED AT SPEECH

In discussing the tilt, the evangelist said:

"When I began to speak I told them I had not come expecting to hear that kind of a speech and that I thought it not nice to put the skids under me. I told them anything said in the introduction I took with a grain of salt because the man who introduced me doesn't believe in Christ, doesn't pray and believes in science and evolution instead of the Bible. It was almost the most exciting experience in my life since my college days."

Claassen said the evangelist called him an atheist.

"I am not an atheist," he said.

FIND GIRL SLAIN NEAR SUICIDE

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Three days of searching for Miss Mary Petshak, 19, was ended today with discovery of her unclothed, strangled body in the basement where her slayer, Charles Denger, 49, had hanged himself.

After reconstructing the tragedy police were convinced that Denges had beaten and strangled the girl to death Friday and had kept the secret until he ended his own life in remorse. Miss Petshak was a niece of Denges by marriage.

The man's body was found hanging from a beam in the basement of his home. Police who investigated found the girl's body hidden beneath a pile of lumber a few yards away. Near Miss Petshak's body was a hammer with which she had been beaten.

SYLVIA SAILS TO RECUPERATE

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Sylvia Sidney, who defied Paramount by walking out on a picture because, she said, she had a throat ailment, was aboard the Ile de France today on her way to Europe.

She denied she is planning to marry a movie director and said she is merely going abroad to recuperate.

Also leaving on the Ile De France was Benita Hume, well-known English film star, who hopes to become an American soon.

"The United States for me in the future!" she exclaimed. "I love Hollywood. I am going over for a short visit and when I return I expect to take out naturalization papers."

On her return she will make a picture with John Barrymore.

'Tex' Longs to Preach In Aimee's Temple

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Mary Louise Cecelia Guinan, known to her night club world and the reading public as "Texas," arrived Sunday from Chicago to play a part in a movie having to do with Broadway.

Full of "wise cracks" as usual, she said she expects to become an evangelist after completing the picture and "making one last tour of the sticks in a big show." She expressed a desire to preach just once at the Four Square Gospel tabernacle of Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: A chum of Ruth Roland (still in Europe) phoned. At the request of Miss Roland, who wanted to thank you very much for stifling those rumors of an alleged divorce from Ben Bard . . . Tampa, Fla., is back on your list . . . There were so many reports about a Mexican divorce for the Weldon Heyburns (Greta Nissen) you'd think the fact that they are together again would bring them just as much space, but no . . .

Wally Beery and his bride, Europe-bound, are stuck in town—because Mr. Zanuck is worried about re-takes for "The Bowery" . . . The last part of the movie was made by non-union technicians—he won't release Beery until he is sure . . . I like that Phil Harris orchestra at the Penn Roof—it has distinction . . . He reminds me a lot of Dick Powell . . . Dorothy Wright, of the show shops, is distressed. She was in Paris at the time a namesake killed herself—would you be so kind, she asks, to do a line or two of type about it? . . . There will be no "shady" publicity on "Captured" because the producers fear that the salty theme, which slipped by the censors, will be altered . . . Get acquainted with "The Stinger," plenty nice: One-third each of brandy, absinthe and white mint—and then frappe. Makes you slide down bannisters.

Met Frank Scully, who returned after 16 years in France. He is a cheerful guy, although very handicapped with lame legs, and what impresses at first meeting is that he still talks without a British or French brogue. He brings the fond regards of the Jimmy Walkers, whose books he is supervising. . . . An ex-convict and lawyer is helping Warden Lawes do his new book . . . You wondered what became of Joe Fejer. He's at his own spot, The Exclusive on W. 53d. He has the record for starring in New York cafes—out-distancing any of them . . .

Mrs. Jean Malin got to her attorneys about making some of the papers retract their remarks that their marriage lasted only one day. They were never divorced—although they talked about it often. Jean wound up with nothing—and she had to dig up the necessary expenses to have him brought home. He was making $800 per, too . . . Your "favorite" judge is being quietly divorced by his fed-up frau . . . Remind me to tell you the name of the sweetshops which no longer permit the waitresses to keep their tips—nice people . . . A few weeks ago the snuffbox of Fred'k the Great was swiped from Marcus, the Vth Ave. jeweler—no other gems were taken. The "mystery" didn't make the rags . . . Doris Duke's motor license is 1E78, which is her address.

Get a load of "Smoke Rings" and "Heart of Stone" as done by Reisman's crew—my newest favorites . . . I sent your mother Bide Dudley's comments about her . . . Anna Held, Jr., guesses the depresh is over—for no chorus girls responded to her offer of hospitality at her country place—without a penny's charge . . . What price good notices? Two rooms at City Hall hold the press clippings of the former mayor . . . By all means an orchid to Henry F. Pringle for "Snatch Racket" in the Sept. Cosmopolitan . . . I always get mixed up when confronted by photos of Randy Scott and Gary Cooper—what ringers they are! . . . The only person who doesn't call Bing Crosby "Bing" is his wife, who calls him Harry, his real first name . . . I'm still mad about Colleen Moore—she's grand in "Power and Glory" . . . Another thing retarding the Tom Gallory—Madge Evans merger is money, most of which Tom invested in his fight club. When the profits come in—they will preacher it.

They are matching Lillian Bond with Ward Bond (same name) again—but that is away off the scent—the real honey being a Los Angeles doctor, I hear . . . I sent those costumes to the baby air mail express—should be there tomorrow night . . . Elsa Maxwell has a new backer, a retired Oklahoma millionaire, whose whiskers he shaved off a la Carnegie—at her advice. Could it be love? Cosmop offered Ed Wynn the highest non-fiction rate ever paid anyone except Shaw and Coolidge—on how to tell a joke . . . Arts and Decoration had this big shakeup long ago. Miss David (pronounced Dah-veed, of all things!) retiring.

Never saw you looking so fit. How about keeping that way? Keep getting up in the daytime, walk a lot, and get pretty . . . The staff has even commented on your pep—so I'm not making all this up . . . I look like I do because I've been going a little dippy trying to find an apartment and buying furniture etc. . . . So that when my husband returns from Monte Carlo—we can play house—Dozens of letters came from girls asking for this job—thinking I would retire—you'll find them in the file—I dare you to! . . . Doug Fairbanks, Jr., cabled he was sending a column—he thought you would take a month . . . I've explained to all concerned about the holiday being cut to 10 days.

Conway Tearle Gets Chance To Make Comeback As Screen Actor

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 21.—After months of waiting, Conway Tearle is to have his chance at the screen comeback which he earned so brilliantly by his performance in the Broadway production of "Dinner at Eight."

The star, who was the idol of fans when he made "Black Oxen" and other silent films, will return to fast company in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's production of "The Vinegar Tree." He'll play Max, the artist.

Miss Brady

Alice Brady, also making a sensational screen comeback, and Lionel Barrymore, will have the other leads.

Coast playgoers will recall that "The Vinegar Tree" served Billie Burke as an amusing vehicle. Larry Wiengarten will be associate producer of the screen version.

Movie magnates are not generally noted for their sense of humor—especially since the strike. They tell this one, however, about Louis B. Mayer.

The other day most of the secretaries on the lot were summoned into a projection-room to give a woman's reaction on "Beauty Parlor."

While the film was being run off, Mayer walked into the room. Recognizing the girls, he looked surprised, then gave a faint smile.

"So," he said, "we're paying people to see our pictures now."

Before the ink was dry on her Reno divorce decree, Carole Lombard was to be whisked back to Hollywood in a special airplane piloted by Col. Roscoe Turner. The studio had to get her fitted with clothes and ready to start "White Woman" immediately.

Sylvia, the famous Hollywood masseuse, who "pounded and told," is back again. Her writings made many a star burn behind the ears . . . More than 250 serious-faced little girls have been interviewed but they still haven't found one who looks like Greta Garbo as a child . . . Though she's having new locks put on all her doors, burglaries are not Joan Crawford's greatest problem. It's how to grow gardenias successfully.

A Los Angeles theater wanted to hire a stilt-walker for an advertising stunt. It offered $5 a day. The man they approached said that the stilt-walkers had a code calling for not less than $7.50 a day. The humor of the thing is that the code was adopted by this city's grand total of two stilt-walkers.

When Maj. Ernst Udet returns to Germany, he'll carry a medal to the mother of Hans Uhl, a young German aviator shot down in the war. The medal was taken from the flier's body by Leroy Prinz, Paramount's dance director, who brought Uhl down and landed to make the necessary identification. The dead aviator was in Udet's command, and the German ace is a friend of his family.

Five years of enthusiastic wishing was brought to a successful conclusion when Mrs. Evelyn Offield, mother of Jack Oakie, was selected to play her real son's screen mother in Paramount's "Too Much Harmony." Ever since Mrs. Offield came to Hollywood five years ago she has wanted to play a small role in pictures, but not until Director Edward Sutherland asked her to play the present part did she have an opportunity. She has had no screen or stage experience.

Why—

You're always saying Chesterfields taste better

— I wish you'd tell me why

Well, I've worked in tobacco; I've manufactured cigarettes . . . and I'll tell you why Chesterfields taste better.

For a cigarette to have a good taste, it must have first the right kind of Domestic tobacco. This means ripe, mellow, sweet tobacco, filled with Southern sunshine. Then, blended and cross-blended with this tobacco there must be the right quantity of the right kinds of aromatic Turkish tobacco... tobacco that has a pleasing flavor and aroma.

Aroma, as you know, adds to the taste. It's just like the pleasing aroma from certain foods. It's appetizing. It makes the food taste better. It makes the cigarette taste better.

Then again, for a cigarette to have a good taste, it must be made right. The size, the cigarette paper, everything about it must be right.

Just try Chesterfields.

More Odds and Ends

ABOUT THREE weeks ago, as probably nobody remembers, I wrote a column about kidnapers. I pointed out that criminals fear the lash more than any other punishment, and I insisted that—if the government would punish kidnapers and go-betweens with the whip—the snatch racket would die out overnight in this country.

A few days ago, Edward P. Mulrooney, the best police commissioner that New York has had in 30 years, and now the chairman of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, stood up at the racket hearings before U. S. Senator Copeland and made the very same assertion. He, too, urged the lash to effect a cure.

Because I was unable to do so personally at the time, I had my secretary write Mr. Mulrooney and enclose a copy of the article in question. His reply arrived this morning, and I want to present it to you:

"I am acknowledging," writes Mr. Mulrooney to my secretary, "your letter of August 14th with enclosed clipping from Mr. Hellinger. Will you please advise Mr. Hellinger that I had not read the article, but that I was tremendously interested in it and that I am in full accord with his views on the subject?

"You may have noted in the report of the hearings before Senator Copeland that I told the Senator I was quite sure my suggestion would not be accepted, and I feel quite the same about it now.

"While I have never subscribed to brutality or inhuman punishment, I think the conditions now existing should be realized and the Legislature and public officials should be sufficiently courageous to apply such remedies to the situation as have been tried and found effective.

"Will you please extend to Mr. Hellinger my every good wish for a speedy recovery" . . .

I think that's a swell letter from a real man, and there isn't much that can be added to it. The lash, properly applied, will accomplish more good than any other punishment that will ever be invented. It may be old-fashioned—but it works. And isn't that the general idea?

So much for that. While I'm on the subject, I might as well finish up with one of the best kidnaping stories that has ever been told. This one goes back some six or seven years when kidnaping was all the rage around New York. It was long before the Lindbergh case, and the general public hadn't learned enough about it to become too indignant.

One fine morning, a mob snatched a bookmaker who, at that time, was in the big dough. He was taken to a boarding house on the West side and was bound to a bed. The mob asked $25,000 for his return.

He was, it seems, an excellent snatch because not only did he have money, but a number of his friends were quite wealthy. But something went wrong somewhere. The kidnapers just couldn't make the right contacts, and they were afraid to proceed too boldly. So they waited developments.

They waited for three weeks, and then they grew tired. They were still holding out for $25,000—but it didn't seem to be coming. The victim was getting thinner and it was obvious that something would have to be done.

The following day, the kidnapers arranged a new deal. They sold the victim to another mob for $5,000 in cash! . . .

THE PRIZE fight game, sadly enough, is right now at its lowest ebb. A few of the boys who are connected with the game stopped in to see me the other day, and one of them unfolded an absolutely true story that astounded me.

A few months ago, a certain boxer who is now the acknowledged champion of the world in his class, was booked for a fight in Philadelphia. The champ, who is too good a sport and is always broke, was compelled to borrow the carfare from New York to Philly for himself and his girl. Arriving there, he hired a cab to the stadium and had to keep the driver waiting until after the fight when he would be able to pay off.

Prices for the fight ranged from 50 cents to $2, and there weren't many $2 customers. The champion's opponent was a mighty tough colored boy and he gave the champ plenty of action in the 10 rounds that they fought.

After the fight, the champ had a bite to eat, paid off his taximan, and returned to New York on the train. Arriving here, he found himself with just 30 cents in his pocket to account for his night's work.

For his end of the purse—and, remember, he's a world's champion—was $25 . . .

Rogers Lends Voice For 'Imitation'

Though his face will not be seen on the screen, nor his name appear in the cast, nor his services receive any pay, Will Rogers will have a role in B. G. DeSylva's musical film, "My Weakness." Rogers will supply the "voice" for an imitation of himself singing a song. He offered his talents when no one could be found to approximiate his voice. He will sing part of an original song, "Be Careful."

"Three to Make Ready," comedy by Helen H. Mason, Pittsburgh playwright, will have its premiere in the Arnold School tonight as a production of the Summer Playhouse. It will be shown nightly throughout the week with a cast including Rosalind Wikander, Polly Rowles and Donald Gill. Miss Mason, who has been spending the summer in the East, will be on hand to see her play presented. It has been promised a Broadway production and New York theater men also are expected. "Three to Make Ready" is the fifth play in the Summer Playhouse series of productions, the sixth and last on the list being "Dangerous Corner," by J. B. Priestley, to be given the week of September 4.

The Harris-Beechview, new house in the Harris Amusement Company chain, completely renovated, with the latest in sound reproduction, will open at 7 o'clock Friday evening, August 25, with Mayor Herron and other city officials as guests at the first show in the newly furnished theater.

Benn W. Levy, London playwright, and his bride, Constance Cummings, American movie actress, will divide their time between Hollywood, where they have leased a suburban home, and England. Miss Cummings' contract with the new Twentieth Century Pictures calls for only 26 weeks in the studios, after which she is given 26 weeks in which to live abroad before she has to make another picture.

Enrico Caruso, Jr., who is playing a bit in the MGM production of "Stage Mother," is also studying voice in Los Angeles under Adolfo de la Huerta.

In "The Power and Glory," in which Colleen Moore makes her comeback to the screen, is an innovation the movie moguls call "narratage." It is described as a spoken version of the play coming as an off-screen effect in non-dialogue sequences.

Shun Fight With Cameraman, or You'll Look Bad

-By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER-

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 21.—Foreign nation opened a pretty kettle of dried codfish when it threatened the life of a New York news reel man.

The camera men haven't lost a war yet. Anybody is foolish who antagonizes a man who can make your grandma show her knees when returning from Europe.

Among the famous victories of the camera boys is the midget in Morgan's lap. That will go down in history with the retreat from Moscow and the charge of the Light Brigade.

The Bunker Hill command not to shoot until you see the whites of their eyes means nothing to an intrepid camera man on the beach. He doesn't shoot until he sees everything.

We don't think a war with the news reel men would be successful. No matter how great your triumph you would always run second to Mickey Mouse.

The intelligent thing right now is a written apology with sound effects.

FATE OF VOTE MACHINES WITH 5-PARTY MAN

Candidate for Council May Force Use of Paper Ballots

Because of the lack of space on the vote machines to be used in the September primaries, E. J. Wuerthele, a councilmanic candidate on five tickets, today was able to dictate how things will be done.

If Wuerthele will withdraw on two of the tickets, then the taxpayers may vote for councilmanic candidates on the machines. If he doesn't, the voters will have to use paper ballots because of lack of space on the machines, according to Maj. William T. Rees, director of the Bureau of Elections.

Named on the Republican, Democratic, Independent, Square Deal and Liberal tickets, Wuerthele is the only candidate on the last two.

By withdrawing from these he would save the county money, and set up a guard against election cheating, according to Rees.

Wuerthele said today he was considering the situation.

CHICAGO SNUBS GEORGIA CHIEF

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—In a bungalow atop a Loop hotel, Gov. Gene Talmadge and his family held open house today for fellow Georgians.

Tomorrow will be Georgia Day at the World's Fair, and Gov. Talmadge arrived today with a delegation of 2,000 visitors from the southern state to take command of the program.

There was not one official at the depot to meet the arrivals, so the 122nd Infantry Band, of Georgia, serenaded the Governor and his party in the trainshed. Nor was there a motorcycle escort of police, so the Governor herded his family into a taxicab and went to a hotel. There the Talmadges took over the rooftop bungalow, and Gov. Talmadge with Mrs. Mattie Talmadge and their children, Mrs. Vera Smiley, Miss Margaret Talmadge and Herman, 20, held open house to anyone from Georgia.

WALKER ENEMY FIGHTS BERRY

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—James E. Finegan, attorney, today announced that he had filed with Gov. Herbert H. Lehman printed charges asking the removal of Comptroller Charles W. Berry for alleged "prodigal fostering of inefficiency, overtaxation and racketeering."

Finegan was one of a group of seven who last year filed with the Governor charges asking the removal of the then Mayor, James J. Walker, for alleged "prodigous inefficiency and misfeasance." Walker resigned during a hearing before the Governor on charges brought by Samuel Seabury.

Berry has made application for retirement effective September 16.

State Approves Printed Ballots

HARRISBURG, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Richard J. Beamish, Secretary of the Commonwealth, today said county commissioners may proceed without further notice in having ballots printed to supplement voting machines in districts where the number of candidates at the September 19 primary is too large to be carried on the machines.

Beamish said Attorney General William A. Schnader has ruled that county commissioners have "sole jurisdiction" in this matter.

Jap Ruler Returns From Naval Games

YOKOSUKA, Japan, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The Emperor returned today from a cruise in the Pacific, during which he witnessed a climatic "battle" between the red and blue fleets of the Japanese navy engaged in maneuvers off the Bonin Islands.

He sailed August 16. It was estimated he covered more than 2,000 miles to witness the maneuvers. Friday he will review the fleets off Yokohama.

TECH'S TROUPE CAVORTS ON SHOWBOAT

'Golden Rod' Goes Modern; No More 'East Lynne'

By HERBERT S. REED
Staff Correspondent.

CHESTER, W. Va., Aug. 21.—The last stronghold of old-fashioned melo—sometimes too mellow—drama has yielded to modernity. A showboat has gone collegiate.

Capt. Billy Menke's Golden Rod, which has plied the waters of Ol' Man River and his offspring for night on to 30 years, left here today with a dramaturgic cargo as alien to Capt. Billy's traditions as russet shoes to evening dress.

Aboard were the "Over the Coals" players. They brought a revue of the latest and lightest collegiate sophistication for the amusement of a river valley accustomed to such strong fare as "East Lynne," "St. Elmo" and "Camille."

TECH PLAYERS

The "Over the Coals" players are—don't tell the authorities at Carnegie Tech—but they are none other than the cast of the Carnegie Tech Revue, which had something more than collegiate success at the Pitt Theater last winter. The same cast with a few changes, and the same business, with a few additions and deletions.

The idea of taking the revue on the river originated with the student producers, William Beals and Herman Liveright. But it found no favor in the Tech administration offices. On the contrary, the students were threatened with being excommunicated if they carried it out, they say.

Liveright, son of Horace Liveright, the New York publisher, persisted. After trying a few one-night stands as a road show, the players abandoned land trouping and got in touch with Capt. Billy Menke. Said Capt. Billy:

"It's a new idea, but then 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' had a first night once; though it's hard to believe it. We'll try a run from Point Pleasant to Pittsburgh, anyway."

SHOWBOAT SCRUBBED

The Golden Rod was at Point Pleasant, W. Va., where she had been laid up for two years. She was no cleaner after the lay-up than you would expect, so the first business aboard was a scrub-bucket scene with a cast of 30 broom and brush wielders.

That was three weeks ago. Since then the Golden Rod's calliope has stirred the pulses of a half dozen river towns.

"Show boat! Show boat! Here comes the showboat—"

And the townsmen have come trooping down to the wharf; not many to be sure, for the depres-

JOHNSON PLANS TO GIVE UP JOB

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, said today in a statement that he intended to surrender his job as administrator "when the NRA program is sufficiently advanced for me to go back to my regular business."

He added that it was impossible to tell when this would be, but his intimates have disclosed that he hoped the time will be during the present year.

Johnson took the post as administrator at the request of President Roosevelt and Bernard M. Baruch, his business associate and a confidential adviser of the chief executive.

With the rapid enrollment of great industries in the program, the administrator believes the major part of the task will be finished soon. When the period of stress is over he expects to turn the permanent administration over to someone else.

PICKETS WIELD UMBRELLAS

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Using their umbrellas for weapons, a crowd of more than 500 striking women workers battled police and strike breakers at the plant of the Eclipse-Needles Shirt Company here today.

When the melee was finally ended by police, one woman was suffering a deep gash on the left wrist, a score of pickets, policemen and sympathizers were nursing minor injuries, and the streets were strewn with broken umbrellas.

Four women and a man were arrested.

The trouble began when the women strikers leaped onto the running boards of cabs bearing strike breakers to work at the plant, the scene of previous disorders.

Accused Man Dies In 10-Story Leap

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—(INS.)—Harry C. Fielder, alias Harry Franklin, 62, formerly of Chicago and Cincinnati, O., jumped to his death from the tenth floor of a hotel here today a few hours before he was to have appeared in court to answer a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Fielder was arrested here August 10 in the company of three persons who police said were two well-known confidence men and a woman.

RUNAWAY GIRLS FACE HEARING

Two Canonsburg girls who, according to police, had run away from home were held for investigation in Morals Court today.

They were arrested in a camp near the end of Campania street, East End, when police were called to investigate screams of women in that vicinity last night.

The girls, who gave their names as Lillian Lawther, 19, of 253 Glen avenue, and Frances Fike, 17, of 202 Lincoln avenue, Canonsburg, told police they had run away two weeks ago, when they stayed too long at a dance and feared to go home.

A man, they said, brought them to the city, leaving them in Highland Park, where they accepted the invitation of several youths to visit the camp.

Police began a search for the owners of the camp.

Wife Hurt Aiding Crowbar Wielder

Mrs. Caroline Rea, 45, of 1600 Cliff street, was in Passavant Hospital today in serious condition because she ran to the assistance of her husband, Dominic, 49, said to have been fighting with Markey Guliano, 22, of 1520 Bedford avenue.

Guliano, struck on the head with a crowbar, was taken to Mercy Hospital. During the melee Mrs. Rea was injured.

Hinkins' injuries, said physicians, were not serious.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 21.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

My friend Johnson, the code man, was going too fast for me, so I left him. His code for himself and staff is 35 hours (not a week, but 35 a day). If he ever goes to sleep he won't wake up till Christmas.

Will Rogers

Here is the best one happened in Washington. All the big oil men, of course, were there, and that, of course, meant a big poker game. Anytime two oil men meet, they don't open a filling station, they open a poker game.

Then an oil man never travels without his big lawyer, and in another room the lawyers have a crap game. In the poker game for the first time it was all cash on the table, no checks. They didn't trust each other. That's their new code. The lawyers used their same old code, of cash. They had never trusted each other.

Yours, WILL.

WORLD WHEAT PARLEY OPENS

International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—A four-point plan to solve the ills of the world wheat industry was discussed at today's opening session of the international wheat conference, which resumed deliberations at the request of the "big four" nations—the United States, Argentine, Canada and Australia.

The four points were:

1—Importers would agree to do nothing to increase domestic production.

2—An attempt would be made to increase consumption by raising the quality of breadstuffs.

3—Tariffs would be lowered whenever the international wheat price reaches an average to be fixed by a technical sub-committee.

4—Exporters would agree to restrict production in 1934 and 1935 if the price exceeds that of the first quarter of 1933.

RAID ON RIVAL'S PICNIC LAID TO VEROSKY

Michael J. Verosky, Braddock political power, was loudly blamed by supporters of Edward McDonough for a raid by county detectives on their picnic in Penn Township yesterday.

George W. Murren, chief of county detectives, denied Verosky inspired the raid and insisted a complaint had been filed "by residents."

Descending before the arrival of McDonough, recognized leader of the Verosky opposition and candidate for borough council, detectives found 150 picknickers engaged in only the orthodox outing activities. Gambling games were the object of the sleuths' search.

No arrests were made. The squad, under the leadership of Thomas Calig, departed after chatting with guests at the Marble Gate Inn, Bessemer road, where the picnic was being held by the Braddock club, Second Ward social organization.

McDonough resigned as lieutenant of the Braddock police force Thursday, under Verosky's pressure, it is claimed. A rumor that Verosky would make the picnic raid has been recently current, according to McDonough's brother George.

Preston Kennedy, prominent surgeon.

The dispatch says it was learned "semi-officially" that a married man and a married woman were present at the party and quoted Jordan as saying, "I am looking for these persons."

A. P. Gardner, one of Dr. Dean's attorneys, was quoted as saying, "The organic trouble that her physician says she is suffering from will not be used as a basis to plead insanity," but that "we are going into court and fight the case on its merits."

Dr. J. P. Leake, senior surgeon of the United States Public Health Service, said today experiments would soon be made on monkeys in an effort to ascertain, if possibly, how the malady is transmitted. The monkeys will be subjected to the disease by various methods, and it is hoped through the experiments to learn more of the sources of infection.

Apparently train riding is good for the eyes for great numbers of spectacles of every description are found by train crews. Many remain unclaimed.

Other articles that decorate the bureau shelves are shoes, brief cases, overcoats, a radio, rings, cameras, blankets, pocketbooks and watches.

A prize find was a human skull in a brown paper bag. It was lost by a University of Pittsburgh medical student.

BRANDON FLAYS G. O. P., BACKS M'NAIR

Asserting that whether Republican candidates are tabbed Coyne or anti-Coyne, they have been closely identified with the city administration, A. D. Brandon, former Morals Court magistrate, today had announced the withdrawal of his candidacy for Council on the Republican ticket.

At the same time he pledged his "support and influence, wholeheartedly and unreservedly," to William N. McNair, Democratic candidate for Mayor. He said:

"In further interest of good government which the city at this time demands, I pledge my support and influence, wholeheartedly and unreservedly to McNair. The weakness of our city government has been due, I am positive, to the vested interests' close alliance with the underworld."

Brandon remarked that Pittsburgh has suffered much by the "unholy alliance" and that voters can hope for little betterment under another Republican regime, regardless of which candidate of that party they may look to. Brandon further said:

"The Republican party has been in power for the last 25 years. Not once has it raised its voice in protest against existing conditions."

SHOWBOAT GOES COLLEGIATE

sion's shadow has not wholly lifted from the Ohio valley, but enough to be a fair test.

They come ready to hiss the villain, prepared to cheer when virtue triumphs; all in fun, of course. And then—

"Ballyhoo, ballyhoo;
"If you want to have a passion,
"You must be in fashion;
"Learn to dance the b-a-l-l-y-hoo."

YOUTHFUL CHORUS

And the song is sung by a chorus young enough to have been the granddaughters of an old-time showboat queen. With the generosity of youth, they leave only as much to the imagination as necessity requires.

It is a little surprising. Not that the valley towns are not accustomed to the jazz tempo, now that the air has a voice and automobiles travel everywhere. But it is a little like coming home to find that grandfather's clock has been wired for electricity.

Yet, after the first faint shock, the audience seemed to like it here. The response was so good, in fact, that Capt. Billy decided to push on to Sewickley, where the Golden Rod will tie up later today for a performance tonight. After that it may go on to Oakmont, and perhaps as far as the head of navigation on the Allegheny River.

And how have the student players been taking to river trouping. Well—there have been problems.

FRENCH MENU

There was for instance the food. The girls found it a trifle heavy. So they decided to lighten the cook's task by writing out a menu in French for her each day. The cook does not read French; there is no conflict with her selections, and everyone is satisfied.

The girls do their own laundry—there isn't much—and tidy up their rooms.

Commented Capt. Billy:

"They probably do more housework than they ever did at home."

But the girls enjoy it.

Said Patti Littell, danseuse:

"I wouldn't have missed it for a farm. But, oh, gee, I wish I could taste some real butter."

At Marietta, O., they had to call a physician aboard, and that was exciting. There is no lighting current available after midnight, so the cast stood by with candles in the shadowy cabin while the physician eased a case of acute indigestion. The sick girl was Kay Furci, of 786 Highland avenue, Carnegie.

For the rest—when the moon comes over the mountains, the beautiful Ohio is beautiful again, a shimmering ribbon of silver purling beneath the stars. There are nooks and shadowy corners on the upper deck—and after the show is over it is surprising how quiet two dozen young people can be.

The Golden Rod has a honeymoon couple aboard. Thomas Gorman and Jane Witmer, both of Cleveland, were married at Wheeling, W. Va., not long before they joined the show.

So far, Capt. Billy says, there has been no stormy weather.

REGISTER G.O.P. WOODSIDE PLEA

Col. Robert G. Woodside, manager of the campaign of Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell for the Republican mayoralty nomination, has issued an appeal to Republicans to register and vote in their own primary.

At the same time Col. Woodside said a vote for any other "anti-Coyne" candidate than Mackrell was futile, and would assist Mayor John S. Herron. There is a demand for a change in city government, Woodside said, and many citizens "realize that Mr. Mackrell's candidacy offers the sure medium through which to bring this about." He said:

"Our investigations have disclosed that there has been no diminishing of the overwhelming sentiment against the political domination of our city government by Senator Coyne, but if anything that feeling is growing stronger every day. East End wards have always been bulwarks of independent strength, are apparently convinced that a vote for any other anti-Coyne candidate than Mr. Mackrell would be futile."

Woodside said the city payroll was being loaded with workers hired with relief work money, and that rackets and slush funds would assist Herron.

Mrs. Walter McFarland, chairman of the women's division of the Mackrell campaign, said that the women were joining to "put an end to Coyne domination of Pittsburgh's city government."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

URSCHEL KIDNAP PROBE SECRET

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Statements obtained from suspects held in Dallas for the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil magnate, were sealed today for the eyes of a grand jury alone—for the protection of the signers themselve.

Frank Blake, Department of Justice agent, in disclosing "several confessions" had been obtained from among the five persons held here, refused flatly, for fear of reprisals, to reveal just how many had been made and just what they contained.

The confessions, Blake said, would be in the hands of federal authorities in Oklahoma City when the grand jury convenes there Wednesday to go into the Urschel case.

The agent said:

"Keeping these things in confidence is essential to convince prospective witnesses—whether co-defendants or not—they will be protected against reprisals."

SURGEON FLEES KIDNAPERS

TEXARKANA, Ark., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Fingerprints on a demolished automobile were photographed yesterday in an effort to apprehend two men who failed in an attempt to kidnap Dr. E. L. Beck, Texarkana surgeon.

The surgeon escaped death by a split second when he leaped from his automobile, commandeered by the kidnapers, just before it was struck by a train after stalling on a crossing.

Dr. Beck said:

"Both men had masks over their faces. They made me drive to an unlighted neighborhood, where they stopped me. They asked for my handkerchief. I gave it to them, and they blindfolded me.

"We drove for a long time, turning many times. Just as we got on the crossing, the driver killed the engine. Then I heard one of them say in a low tone, 'We've got to get out of here.'

"I jerked the blindfold down and opened the left door. It seemed that my foot had not touched the running board before the train struck the car."

Feted at Birthday Party, Girl Killed On Return

EMPORIUM, Pa., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Returning from a party at Ridgway, given in honor of her nineteenth birthday, Dorothy Streich was thrown through the windshield of a small coupe early yesterday and killed.

George Michaels, of Ridgway, driving the machine, said a heavier car attempting to pass him on the highway locked its rear wheel with his front one, causing both to pile up in a ditch.

POLICE STUDY GANG WARFARE

HARRISBURG, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—In step with the nation's anti-crime drive, police from nine states went to school today for post-graduate courses on how to fight the gangster with his own weapons—sub-machine guns, revolvers and gas.

The machine guns and revolvers were first on the program of study mapped out for more than 100 representatives of 26 state, municipal and industrial police departments gathered for a week of intensive training. The fine art of the defensive and offensive use of tear and smoke gas bombs ranks next.

Hand-to-hand fighting, jiu-jitsu and disarming tricks are not to be neglected, but the caurse is built on the crime-wave theory of meeting violence with violence first.

SMITH TO BAN WATCHERS

Judge Ralph H. Smith, candidate for election to Common Pleas Court, today said he would employ no paid watchers in the election. He said:

"No one thing has been more provocative of criticism than the use of paid watchers' certificates by candidates in their efforts to stimulate activity at the polling places on election day.

"As a judge, sworn to safeguard the purity of the ballot and punish election law violations, I publicly announce that in my campaign no paid watchers' certificates shall be used."

WEST CAPTURES POLO HONORS FROM EAST

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The East's traditional domination over American polo had vanished today—wrested away by a band of riders from California and Texas.

These rough riders from the Western plains, battered and beset by hard luck, won the final match of the country's first inter-sectional series, 12 to 6, before 20,000 spectators yesterday.

The West, with Aiden Roark, Elmer J. Boeseke, Jr., Cecil Smith and Hubert W. (Rube) Williams, won the opening match, 15 to 11. Tommy Hitchcock, the world's only 10-goal player and leader of the forces from the cradle of American polo, altered his lineup for the second match last Wednesday and the new combination swept through to a 12 to 8 triumph, squaring the series.

PEDLEY SAVES WEST

Not only did the West lose the second battle, but Williams, its great back, suffered a fracture of his right leg below the knee.

Then Eric Pedley, whom Hitchcock had called the finest No. 1 in the country, was called from California for the final match. He flew to Chicago, with a day of practice and jumped into the battle. Roark was shifted to back, while Boeseke and Smith remained at two and three, respectively.

Yesterday the East was able to keep up with the terrific riding and daring play of the West for lesss than three periods. Winston Guest scored for the East in the first and second periods to give the East a 2-to-0 lead, but the three-goal splurge at the end of the second chukker, as the Westerners found themselves, was just an indication of what was to come. Guest, who scored four goals, tied it up early in the third period, but Cecil Smith put the Plainsmen out in front again, scoring six goals.

BOESEKE STARS

Boeseke, with his right leg bandaged, drove home three goals ... opportune moments, while Pedley, shooting seldom as he made scoring plays for Smith and Boeseke, was just what the West needed.

Hitchcock was probably the most accomplished individual on the field throughout the series, but in the first and final tests, failed to get co-operation from his mates.

The lineup:

| East. | West. |
|---|---|
| Winston Guest | No. 1 Eric Pedley |
| E. J. B. Hopping | No. 2 E. Boeseke, Jr. |
| T. Hitchcock, Jr. | No. 3 Cecil Smith |
| Raymond Guest | Back Aiden Roark |

Score by periods:

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| East | 1 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | —6 |
| West | 0 | 3 | 1 | 2 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 3 | —12 |

Goals—Winston Guest 4, Hopping 1, Smith 6, Roark 1.

Foul for No. 1 penalty—Pedley 2, Boeseke 3, Smith 6, Roark 1.

Fouls—Winston Guest 2, Hitchcock 7, Hopping 1, Raymond Guest 1, Pedley 1, Boeseke 1, Roark 2.

Time of periods—7½ minutes.

Officials—Referee, Louis E. Stoddard; umpires, Capt. Wesley J. White and Capt. C. A. Wilkinson.

How Principals In Big Bout View Test

By TED YAROSZ

I am in fine shape for my fight with Vince Dundee tonight, and naturally expect to win. I have trained well and have finished my grind without any injuries.

I realize that in boxing a veteran of the ability of Dundee I am facing my sternest test. I will fight the best fight of which I am capable, and hope to fulfill the hopes of my well-wishers. I feel I have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Nervous before the bell? Not a bit of it. I have been in tough spots before, and a fighter who hopes to get anywhere must expect to meet these tests as they arise.

By VINCE DUNDEE

I have the greatest respect for Yarosz. Any time a young fighter compiles a winning streak such as he boasts he is dangerous. I will not be caught napping. I expect to outbox him, especially if he makes good his promise to carry the fight to me. If I can get to close quarters, I will slow him down, and then I think I will go on to victory, as I did when I halted the winning streak of Frankie Goosby here.

It ought to be a great fight—and may the better man win.

Senators Refuse To Accept Gray

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Sam Gray today is wondering whether he was or was not a major league baseball pitcher.

The Washington Senators, to whom the pitcher was supposed to have been sold last week, left St. Louis last night without Sam. He remained here, but St. Louis officials say he doesn't belong to the Browns.

Officers of the Washington team declared they canceled the deal when they learned Gray had a sore arm. Vice President McEvoy, of the Browns, not only has notified Gray of his release, but has submitted transfer papers to the Washigton team and league headquarters.

McEvoy says the next move is up to Washington and Manager Cronin, of Washington, says the next move is up to the Browns.

WOMEN'S NET MATCHES ARE POSTPONED

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The remaining semi-final matches of the women's national tennis championships at the West Side Tennis Club today were postponed until 2:30 (eastern standard time) tomorrow as a steady overnight rain, which soaked the courts, gave no signs of abating.

Today's program called for Dorothy Round, of England, to play Helen Jacobs, the defending champion, in a semi-final of singles and Miss Round and Mary Heeley, of England, against Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan, in a semi-final of doubles.

The finals will be played Wednesday.

The winner of the singles match will engage Mrs. Moody for the title Wednesday, while the doubles winners go to the final bracket against Betty Nuthall and Freda James, also of England.

Miss Nuthall yesterday gave 6,000 fans a thrill by winning the first set of her match with Mrs. Moody at 6-2, but the queen of the courts rallied to win at 2-6, 6-3, 6-2.

The defending champions, Miss Jacobs and Sarah Palfrey, were beaten, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5, as Miss Nuthall and Miss James gained the final in doubles.

Canadian Pros Beat U. S. Stars

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Two of Canada's star professional golfers yesterday made good their claim they could beat a pair of the best in the United States. Willie Lamb and Andy Kay, both of Toronto, won their fourth and final match, 2 up, with Leo Diegel, of Aqua Caliente, and Johnny Farrell, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., for a side bet of $1,000.

NECK IN CAST, TENNES WINS HEARST CUP

By WARREN BROWN
Universal Service.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—From a record-breaking field of 285 entrants, largest ever to gather in any country for an outboard motor competition, Horace Tennes, Chicago youth, emerged yesterday as winner of the William Randolph Hearst Gold Cup.

Tennes, winner of the cup in the first annual event, held last year, succeeded in retaining the splendid trophy by taking two first places, and a fifth, in the series of events held in the north lagoon of A Century of Progress. His point score was 1,056.

More than 60,000 persons watched the series of spectacular races throughout the day, and this number was increased by those who dropped by the north lagoon for a while, watched and passed on to view the other wonders of A Century of Progress.

It is no exaggeration to state that, at one time or another, as many as 80,000 of the fair's visitors took in some of the races.

Tennes, in winning the Hearst gold cup for the second time, performed a remarkable feat, for, several days ago the youth dislocated a vertebrae in his neck while diving. Against the protest of his doctor and his parents, Tennes came on to compete, and though his neck was in a cast, which prevented him from being as agile as others of the great field of contestants, he stuck to it to the finish, his easily won victory in the Class F final, the closing number of the day, for the cup contestants, giving him the points necessary to win. His other first place was scored when he won the Class A-1 final.

LOCAL RIDERS BEAT OHIOANS

South Park's brilliant comeback against the hard-riding, accurate stroking Zanesville riders at South Park yesterday, wherein the locals defeated the Ohioans, 10 to 3, to even the series, was the talk of local polo circles today.

Sid Landau, although he scored only two of his team's goals, was the star of the exciting battle, in which two players were injured. Landau directed the play of his team and played a great defensive game. A blow on the chin in the fifth chukker opened a deep cut.

Lawrence McClure, Zanesville's No. 2 man, suffered a fractured rib in a smashup with Bill Ackerman, of the South Park team.

A crowd of more than 3,000 witnessed the battle. The lineup:

| South Park | Zanesville |
|---|---|
| Landau | No. 1 Steenberg |
| Voltz | No. 2 McClure |
| Ackerman | Back Ryan |

Score by chukkers:

| | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| South Park | 1 | 3 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 2 | —10 |
| Zanesville | 0 | 1 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —3 |

Substitutions—Fisher for Voltz, Wagner for Fisher, Schwartz for Landau, Everett for McClure. Goals—Ackerman 5, Landau 2, Voltz, Fisher, Schwartz, Steenberg, McClure, Ryan, Fouls—Landau, Ryan. Referee—Capt. E. J. Voltz.

By the margin of a single goal, the Rosslyn Farms riders defeated the Chartiers Heights polo team at Rosslyn Farms yesterday afternoon, 5 to 4.

LOCAL SOLDIERS WIN

CARLISLE, Pa., Aug. 21.—The 53rd Field Artillery poloists, of Pittsburgh, with Sergt. Collins leading the attack, defeated the West Shore team, of Harrisburg, here yesterday afternoon, 5 to 3.

Casters Elect Ward President

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Charles M. Ward, of Pittsburgh, last night was elected president of the National Association of Scientific Angling after the close of that body's annual four-day tournament.

Edward Braddon, of Cleveland, won the national allround fly and bait championship. Competing in all of the eight men's events, he scored the low total of 33 points. Bob Clarkson, of Chicago, was second with 35 points.

LOSS BATTLES BILLY HOLT

Two six-round bouts and three four-rounders will back up the exhibition appearance of Primo Carnera, the world heavyweight champion, at the St. Peter's A. A. Stadium, on the North Side, Thursday night.

Billy Holt, Negro welterweight, of Homewood, boxes Phil Ross, of Chicago, in the main bout, which will follow the exhibition. Ross also boxes on the Yarosz-Dundee bill at Forbes Field tonight, when he meets Al Diamond, of Newark, N. J., sparring partner of Dundee.

Charley Jones is serving as matchmaker for the show.

Benswanger Back, Retains Flag Hope

Pirate President Bill Benswanger was back at his desk today. He hurried home from Boston after the finish of the first game between the Buccos and Braves yesterday.

Benswanger has not given up his pennant hopes. He was riled by the treatment his club received in Brooklyn, where a game was called off, he says, with the sun shining. The following day was open on the playing cards of the two teams, yet the Dodger officials insisted on a synthetic Sunday doubleheader next month.

Benswanger will attend tonight's Yarosz-Dundee fight. He will go to Springfield, O., Wednesday in order to be present Thursday for the National American Legion playoffs.

BUCS' PENNANT HOPES REACH LOWEST EBB

SPORT COMMENT

Vince Dundee's Rise. Follows Brother Joe. Both Reach Heights.

Yarosz Bout History. Goosby Forgotten Man. Bill Tracy Promoter.

TIGER JOE LIKES TEDDY'S CHANCES

Back in 1923 and 1924, when this writer was toiling for Mr. Hearst's Baltimore American, the reigning sensation in the fistic ranks of the old Oriole City was one Joe Dundee. Joe Gans, Kid Williams, George and Andy Chaney and others had come and gone. Dundee, a sturdy Italian youth, whose family name is Lazzaro, was fighting his way up through the lightweight class. He finally developed into a welterweight and went on to win the championship of the world in that division. On the way up he won a technical knockout victory over Mickey Walker, a former welterweight champion, who still is fighting, now campaigning as a heavyweight, after having won and lost the middleweight title.

Max Waxman

In the background was a kid brother, Vincent Lazzaro, just out of his knee pants, beginning to battle in preliminary bouts. He was a gangling youngster, who learned much by copying the methods of the stars he saw in the gymnasiums. When Brother Joe won the welterweight title with a victory over Pete Latzo, Vince still was struggling through the ranks.

Finally came the day when Joe surrendered the crown to Jackie Fields in Detroit, back in 1929. His manager, Max Waxman, advised him to quit. Vince was coming along fast and Joe had fought himself out battling the tough opposition that had barred his way to the championship. It was up to Vince to carry on the family tradition.

And well he has carried on. Today he stands out, and has stood out for more than a year, as a leading claimant of the middleweight crown. He is smarter in the ring than his brother, whose success first turned his thoughts to boxing. Three nephews, the Raymond brothers, of Baltimore, also are in the ring, and his brother-in-law is Al Rossi, a New Jersey middleweight.

BROTHERS WELL KNOWN HERE

Twice Joe Dundee has fought in Pittsburgh, the first time against Billy Alger, just before he lost his title, the second time against Buck McTiernan, both times at the Meyers Bowl. Twice also Vince has shown here, the first time beating the same McTiernan in Motor Square Garden, and the second time knocking out Frankie Goosby in the North Side Arena.

Tonight, Vince goes one up on Brother Joe in so far as Pittsburgh is concerned when he boxes Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, in what is truly this city's Battle of the Century, at Forbes Field, which has not housed a boxing show for going onto a decade. Never has there been so much interest in a local battle. The Beaver Valley, which calls Yarosz its own, will be deserted tonight, and is planning a mammoth post-fight celebration if its favorite son comes through with a victory in this, his most important test, for it has visions of the middleweight championship for the young Polish star.

From far and wide will come fight followers, scenting something a bit out of the ordinary in this match, for which some 25,000 seats will be available in the grandstand at the low price of $1.10. Probably more women than ever before saw a fight in Pittsburgh will sit in on this one. Leading lights in the city's professional, social, business and political life will be on hand.

The principals in the main bout are two of the most consistent winners in the ring. This is Yarosz' seventieth fignt, and he has suffered only one defeat. With the exception of a disputed defeat by Marcel Thil, in France, Dundee has not lost a bout in more than three years. Dundee is the seasoned veteran; Yarosz the ambitious hometown youngster, who has met all qualifications so far.

GREAT OAKS FROM LITTLE ACORNS GROW

Great oaks from little acorns grow. If you do not believe it, consider the history of the making of this great "natural" bout which will be unfolded to the cash customers tonight. Some months ago, Goosby, a rattling good Negro middleweight boxer and puncher, who had not been defeated or even held to a draw in seventy-some fights, was begging the local promoters to bring in a highly-rated opponent for him, that he might enhance his prestige and at the same time get himself some much-needed money. The promoters announced they couldn't lure in any of the better-known boxers for him, and specifically stated that Dundee was not available.

Imagine their embarrassment when Manager Waxman wrote a letter stating that Dundee was available, but not at the meager terms they had offered him. This put the promoters on the spot, and they reopened negotiations, with the result that there was some spirited bidding for Dundee's services, and Matchmaker Lew Raymond finally came up with the match, arranged for Greenlee Field. A proposed merger between the Arena and Greenlee Field fell through and the Arena decided to stage the bout in its indoor quarters. The terms called for Dundee to receive a guarantee of $1,250, while Goosby was to get only $75 for training expenses until the receipts passed $2,100, after which he was to get a percentage. Goosby was so anxious for a chance that he jumped at the offer.

Hot weather set in and the fight was a financial flop. The club didn't take in enough to pay Dundee's guarantee and had to dig down and take a loss.

YAROSZ BOUT BECOMES A 'NATURAL'

When Dundee knocked out Goosby it was inevitable that he should be matched with Yarosz, and here we are, with the biggest thing in the way of a fistic attraction Pittsburgh ever has known dropped into the lap of the lucky promoter, who didn't have anything to do with the build-up, but was quick to realize the bout's possibilities.

And, as a reward for his part in making tonight's fight possible, poor Goosby hasn't had a bout since Dundee knocked him out. The least consideration he should have received was a semi-final on the program, for he is just as good a fighter as he was before he ran afoul of Dundee, and could be built back up into an attraction if some promoter would just take an interest in him. While he rests and rusts, Dundee receives another guarantee of $1,250, with a privilege of 25 per cent of the receipts. Yarosz also is getting a 25 per cent cut of the melon.

Behind the scenes in the promotion of the Dundee-Yarosz fight is a sportsman little known to the fans at large. He is Bill Tracy, of Braddock, an inveterate fight and baseball fan, who seldom misses a world series or a big fight, no matter where they take place. It was Bill's money that made tonight's fight possible, but he has preferred to remain in the background and permit Promoter John L. Hernon to have a free hand in arranging and staging the card.

TIGER JOE RANDALL LIKES YAROSZ TO WIN

Tiger Joe Randall, cunning Negro welterweight, of Elizabeth, who meets Al Salbano in the main preliminary tonight, has boxed Yarosz three times, one of their battles having been very close, and should qualify as some sort of an expert on tonight's clash. He picks Yarosz to win.

PIRATES LOSE DOUBLE BILL TO BRAVES

BOSTON, Aug 21.—With no baseball activity scheduled for them today, the Pirates realized the date was no more empty than their pennant dreams. No, George Gibson's athletes have not given up hope of winning the National League flag, but there was bound to be an awful hangover as a result of the "synthetic" doubleheader of yesterday wherein the Buccos dropped two more contests to the Braves and fell to a point seven and one-half games below the high-flyin' Giants.

The Buccos today had plenty of time to read the papers and recount the loss of the past few days. The Boston dailies, with pardonable pride, related the fact that the latest exploit of Bill McKechnie's Braves placed them within a hair of second place. The Pirates are hanging onto the runnerup position by the scantiest of margins, the Braves and Cardinals being in a practical three-cornered tie for the spot.

GIANTS GOING WELL

The pace-setting Terry Clan, meantime, shows no signs of cracking. The New Yorkers succeeded in pushing the Cubs into the second division yesterday, although the Braves gave the Bruins a right good shove in that direction while the Chicago boys loitered in Boston.

The Pirates had a full appreciation of the fact that their big hope lay in the opportunity offered them through four days beginning Wednesday. The Bucs are slated to tangle with the Giants in five battles, the fireworks to start with a doubleheader Wednesday afternoon. By winning four of the five contests the Pittsburghers can get back into the thick of the fight, but such an order is one of great proportions, when Terry's pitchers and his club's known fighting spirit are considered.

The Braves and Pirates will ring down the season's curtain on their Braves Field play with a single contest tomorrow.

HOLIDAY CROWD OUT

Despite showers and dark skies the Bucos and Tribe played to 33,000 people yesterday. It was the biggest crowd of fans the Pittsburghers have seen this year and at times the Gibson cast appeared to be stage-struck.

Larry French pitched cleverly enough to win the first game in even innings, but Piet and Vaughan contributed errors that sent the contest into extra rounds. The Braves won out in the eleventh, 5 to 4. The Bucs' pitching staff staged a typical Pirate blowup in the nightcap and the Braves won easily, 8 to 1.

The Freebooters spoiled a chance to grab the early contest in the ninth. The Braves deadlocked in the eighth, but Piet's single in ninth placed Suhr, who had walked, on third with only one out. Bob Smith relieved Mangum and walked Grace, filling the bases. Jensen batted for French, but popped out and L. Waner was thrown out.

Steve Swetonic was charged with the Pirate defeat in the eleventh. Whitney opened with a single, and Lee sacrificed. Spohrer's double brought the game to a close.

Bill Swift was nicked for three successive hits in the first inning of the second game. Swift was yanked with one out in favor of Chagnon, but the resultant three-run lead was enough to carry the Braves through to victory in view of Ben Cantwell's careful pitching.

BUCS BUY OUTFIELDER

Pirate officials last night announced the purchase of Outfielder Nicholas Etten, aged 19, from the Davenport (Ia.) club of the Mississippi Valley League. About six feet in height and weighing 180 pounds, Etten is batting .352 for his team.

Scout Carleton Molesworth put the stamp of approval on the lad, who has made 129 hits in 93 games. His offensive card also shows 22 doubles, three triples and 14 homers. He has scored 86 runs. He is a lefthander all-round, and a recruit who, Molesworth believes, will make the big league grade in time.

Floyd Young, Pirate reserve infielder, was relieved of $22 by a holdup man Saturday night. Floyd was walking down the street near the hotel when a stranger stepped to his side, pressed a gun against his ribs and led him into a dark alley, where he took his purse and made his escape.

Sport Shorts

NEW YORK.—(AP.)—Susan Robertson, of the Women's Swimming Association, successfully defended her national A. A. U. long-distance title yesterday over a four-mile course at Jones Beach. She swam the distance in 54 minutes, 45.2-5 seconds. Eva Bein was second, and Dorothea Dickinson third.

VILLANOVA, Pa.—The Villanova College football team today began training for the fall schedule, opening with West Chester Teachers' College on September 23.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(AP.)—Finding no legal difference between the sale of what he termed "booster cards" and tickets, Assistant District Attorney Carl B. Shelley put a halt to a scheduled motorcycle race just outside the city line yesterday.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—(INS.)—Equipoise, C. V. Whitney's turf ace, will leave town today in a special car attached to the Twentieth Century Limited for Chicago, where the horse will run Thursday in the Hawthorne Gold Cup.

CINCINNATI.—(AP.)—John McDiarmid, of Fort Worth, Tex., defeated Arnold Simons, Louisville (Ky.) national public parks champion, here yesterday to win the Ohio Valley men's singles tennis title. The scores were 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

FAMOUS MARE DIES

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 21.—(INS.)—Hymir, 25-year-old famous brood mare, the dam of such offspring as Conquistador and Morvich, was dead today. Hymir was purchased several years ago by Baron Long, the sportsman.

SOCCER TEAMS MEET

Allegheny Valley soccer teams are to attend an Allegheny Valley Soccer League meeting at 7:30 tonight at the German Hall, 248 West Tenth avenue, Tarentum. A meeting of the West Penn Football Association will be held Friday night.

BOSTON BRAVES AND CLEVELAND MAKE GAINS

Associated Press.

Although they haven't yet caused any qualms for the New York Giants and Washington Senators, who built up their leads to seven and one-half and eight and one-half games, respectively, over the past week end, the Boston Braves and Cleveland Indians appear to be the teams to watch at the present stage of the big league pennant races.

The Braves inflicted painful damage upon two western challengers for the Giants' lead last week and finished off yesterday by climbing into a virtual tie for second place as they trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates in a doubleheader. Cleveland, which has been showing steady improvement under Walter Johnson's guidance, found the batting range a little over a week ago and has stormed up from fifth place to third in the American League, winning its last six games.

LEADERS IMPROVE POSITIONS

Despite the wholesale shifts in the ranking of the lower clubs in both leagues, Washington and the Giants have steadily improved their positions. Going out 8½ games in front of the New York Yankees Saturday, held that lead yesterday by whipping the pesky St. Louis Browns in two close games, 2 to 1 and 4 to 3. Earl Whitehill outpointed George Blaeholder in the opening slab duel, while Walter Stewart scored two of the runs that won his own game. The double victory extended Washington's winning streak to 13 games.

The Yankees acted like their old selves as they overwhelmed the Chicago White Sox, 14-3 and 11-3, with the aid of two homers by Lou Gehrig.

The Giants, with Hal Schumacher winning his fourteenth game, trounced the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 1, as their share in a big improvement in their standing. The St. Louis Cardinals bounced the Brooklyn Dodgers around twice, 6-2 and 5-0, to gain a third interest in the second place deadlock, two percentage points behind the Pirates and one behind Boston.

Dizzy Dean won game No. 17 for St. Louis, blanking Brooklyn with five hits, in the nightcap. The Phillies and Cincinnati, whose games don't affect the pennant race much, had the day off.

INDIANS WIN PAIR

Cleveland held third place in the American safe from Detroit's bid by pasting the Boston Red Sox two more times, 14-6 and 9-4.

The Detroit Tigers broke their fourth place deadlock with the Philadelphia Athletics with a double victory, 5-4 and 4-1.

NET FAVORITES ADVANCE

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Losing only one game, Harold Neff turned in a straight-set triumph over Julius Tearces in the first round of men's singles competition to lead a small army of tennis players into action in the District XI eliminations in the public parks and playgrounds net tournament on the South Park courts today.

With favorites coming through as expected, G. Rowland Wilson and C. J. Newham held the spotlight in the early hours of the battling, the former winning a torrid three-set encounter that was close and hard fought throughout.

Men's singles play monopolized today's slate. Men's doubles and women's singles jousting are to get under way tomorrow. The summary of today's first round matches in men's singles:

Harold Neff defeated Julius Tearces, 6-1, 6-0; Walter Kettered defeated William R. Balithe, 6-3, 6-2; Thomas H. Locke, Jr., defeated George Tserzas, 6-3, 6-3; E. J. Grennan defeated Ray Yellig, 6-4, 6-2; Harry Tserzas defeated William Drew, 6-3, 6-1 Jim Stevenson won by default from Forest Campbell; Bob Critchlow won by default from W. J. Purell; Robert McMarren won by default from R. T. Wolsen; Dudley Weiss defeated Stevens Smith, 7-5, 6-0; Walter Douglas defeated John Allison, 6-3, 6-1; Harry Wald defeated Ralph Martin, Jr., 6-1, 6-2; Rowland Wilson defeated C. J. Newham, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Christie Sets Pace In Vandalia Shoot

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—B. V. Christie, of Houston, Tex., led the amateurs, and Clyde Wells, of St. Louis, was first among the professionals at the half-way mark in the double target events of the thirty-fourth annual Grand American trapshooting tournament which opened here today.

Both pros and amateurs fired 1000 shots. The final 100 will be fired tomorrow.

Frank Lightner, of Houston, Tex., with 95 out of the possible 100, closely trailed Christie's 96 at the half-way mark. Frank Troeh, of Portland, Ore., had 93, and H. W. Woodward, of Houston, Tex., 92.

Wells emerged high among the pros, who took the traps as soon as the amateurs had fired their 100 for the day, with a 96.

BOBBY JONES' GOLF

By BOBBY JONES

Only Golfer Who Has Won U. S. and British Amateur and Open Championships in the Same Year.

A letter from Dr. Anthony Bassler, of New York City, introduces an interesting discussion. He writes:

"The purpose of my writing you is that about everything in golf has been described, yet there are important things that have not been touched upon. One of these is the control of direction of the golf shot. I think you could answer this because some years ago when Alec Smith was alive and we were talking about you, he said:

"'Bobby Jones has a small percentage on every other golfer in the sense that he puts his feet properly for direction. There are a hundred men who can make a golf shot as good as he does, but he controls direction just a little bit better than any of them.'

Bobby Jones

"I think that this is true, having watched you, although you have not written on this essential matter. Would it not be possible for you to study this matter out in connection with yourself and try to see upon what basis the faculty you have is fundamentalized. It probably is instinctive, but even that is possible of analysis."

First, let me say that I am grateful to Alec Smith and Dr. Bassler for the compliment they pay me, however little it may be merited.

EXPERIENCE COUNTS

As Dr. Bassler invites me to treat the analysis as one of my own method, the matter becomes a bit more simple than would be any discussion of how to hit a golf ball straight toward any given objective. The ability to do so depends so much upon arduous practice and long experience, which enable a person to make instinctively the tiny corrections which always are needed and yet defy description. Yes, a great deal of it is instinctive, although there are certain features which are explainable.

I think the best way to go about it is to start off with a clear picture in the mind's eye of what the club must be doing at the instant of impact. Obviously, when a straight shot is desired, the picture one should have is of the club-face, aligned true to the objective, passing through the ball on a line directed toward the objective. If a pull or fade is wanted the picture is altered, but it should still be equally clear.

CREEPS AHEAD OF BALL

Having got that, the stance and address must be arranged so that the player will have the feeling that he will be able to fulfill to the last detail the picture he has visualized. And the most important thing here is to have the ball far enough forward. It is so easy to creep farther and farther ahead of the ball, moving it more and more toward the right foot, until a swing straight through it is impossible. For a full drive, I always try to address the ball at a point slightly in advance of my left heel.

Of course, whether or not the doing or attempting of these things will produce a straight shot depends upon the correctness and soundness of the swing above all else. Many a stroke, begun with the best intentions, is ruined by some sudden interruption in the mental or physical performance. It has been my experience that more bad shots are caused by the intrusion of destructive impulses after the swing has been started than by omissions or mistakes in preparation. It is necessary to start out with the proper purpose and from a correct physical arrangement, but this is by no means all. The swing must be completed smoothly and correctly, and it is the ability to do this consistently which, more than anything else, keeps the ball in the fairway.

OHIO TOSSERS PLAY HERE

The Cleveland Giants will be the attraction at Greenlee Field this evening, meeting the Crawfords in a game under the lights. The ladies will be admitted free. The teams were scheduled to clash Saturday evening, but a bus breakdown prevented the Giants arriving on time.

This will be the last appearance of the Crawfords at Greenlee Field until after the East-West game, scheduled for Chicago September 10.

The Books and Dormont provide another stellar attraction at Olympia Park, where the Books are faced with winning a game to stay in the second half race for the City League crown.

Books meet the Gillespies of Brentwood tomorrow, and on Thursday, Whitaker invades Olympia Park for the crucial game of the second half race.

Yesterday, the Crawfords divided a double bill with the House of David tossers at Akron. The locals won the first game, 9 to 2, but dropped the second, 3 to 2.

GIRL SETS RECORD

TOKIO, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Hideko Mayehata, of the Nagoya Girls' High School, yesterday bettered the women's world record for 400 meters breaststroke in the Eastern Japanese championships at Nagoya. She swam the distance in 6 minutes, 37.6 seconds, as compared to the listed record of 6.38.4, set by J. Kasiein, of Holland, at Amsterdam April 2, 1932.

PITTSBURGH BUYER'S GUIDE AND BUSINESS REVIEW

Forbes

Inflation Is Alternative to Revival

By B. C. FORBES

IRREGULAR progress.

That is the best that can be recorded.

NRA'S HECTIC activities monopolize front pages. Its administrators are becoming more and more dictatorial. The big stick is brandished over the heads of basic industries that have been stated to abandon rights heretofore regarded as inherent under the American Constitution.

Mr Forbes

The prospect is, however, that NRA will insist upon its commands being obeyed implicitly regardless of objections on the part of those called upon to foot the bill.

The steel and motor industries, among others, are deeply disturbed over NRA's attitude towards unionization. Management feel that labor leaders are now in the saddle.

Industry and business are becoming disturbed over the apparent official indifference to profits. They fear that dictators do not grasp that unless a business can be conducted at a profit, it cannot continue to pay high wages or wages of any kind whatsoever.

HOPE IS expressed that by Labor Day most of the disputes over codes will be settled, and uncertainty thereby modified.

Meanwhile, misgivings over the ultimate outcome are causing some slackening in enterprise.

SECURITY and commodity markets have reflected the day-to-day NRA and other official developments and rumors.

A whisper that President Roosevelt planned to debase the currency was sufficient to send prices sky-rocketing one day. The throwing of cold water on this rumor immediately brought a revulsion of sentiment.

The net result for the week was fractional decline in average stock quotations, but a considerable recession in principal commodities.

MEANWHILE, the genuineness of business recovery during summer months has been emphasized.

July statistics nearly all reveal very substantial gains—in employment, in payrolls in industrial output, in farm values, in railway earnings, in power consumption, in check settlements.

August figures disclose some slowing down here and there, but really less than normal.

EVERYBODY is guessing as to what will happen after Labor Day, when ordinarily it is possible to obtain a line on how the fall will go.

Much, it is reasoned, will depend upon how far NRA succeeds in winning the co-operation of industry, and how far coercion will be carried. If the co-operation of both employers and workers can be won, the outlook will be regarded as distinctly less disturbing than if the Big Stick is freely applied.

After all dictators cannot themselves fill pay envelopes. Nor can official decrees make possible wage disbursements in excess of profits.

HAPPILY, every thoughtful citizen realizes that it is essential to do everything possible to make the Roosevelt program operate successfully.

Every thoughtful person realizes, also, that unless satisfactory results can be achieved along present lines, the President will not refuse to try outright inflation, an emergency measure not generally relished.

THAT HIGHER prices will be brought about, either by NRA's methods or by drastic currency inflation, is accepted as a foregone conclusion by many speculators. Hence the periodic sharp rebounds in quotations after spells of pressure.

Some who are not fond of speculation reason that, in view of looming inflation, it is better to own common stocks, commodities, raw materials, etc., than idle dollars which may shrink severely.

THE STAKE is so tremendous that it is to be profoundly hoped that no one group, no one clique, no one class will become overly rambunctious, overly-anxious to take advantage of the present emergency to entrench itself unduly at the expense of the nation as a whole. This is a time for enlightened sacrifice rather than for shortsighted self-aggrandizement.

STATE REPORTS JOB INCREASE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—An increase of 38 per cent in the number of men and women placed at work during the six months ending August 15, as compared to the corresponding period of 1932, was reported by the State Employment Service.

The increase in registration, however, was even greater and the percentage of placements in relation to applicants for work remained at what the service calls "the discouraging low level" of 11 per cent.

The greatest proportional increase took place in jobs for women, which jumped 81 per cent. Women represented 56 per cent of the total number of applicants placed, as compared to less than 43 per cent in the first half of 1932.

Industrial jobs for women, trifling in numebr last year, multiplied 16 times while the total for men in this classification dropped off 15 per cent.

This year, however, placements of men were, in the main, of permanent character, requiring greater skill and paying a distinctly higher wage than those of the previous year.

ASKS SEPARATE JEWISH STATE

MILAN, Italy, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The creation of a completely autonomous Jewish state is advocated by Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo D'Italia on the eve of the world Hebrew congress opening August 21 at Praha, Czechoslovakia.

The only "integral solution" of the Israelite problem, the newspaper says, lies in giving the Jews a homeland where they can maintain their own government, army and navy.

It points out that the present "national home" in Palestine is under an English mandate.

"There is no doubt," said an editorial in the Popolo "that the national home is an experimental solution which has not satisfied the Jews and has irritated the Arabs. It is neither fish nor fowl."

It says that with provisions for mass immigration the Arabs of Palestine would become in a short time a minority instead of a majority.

BRAHMIN ASKS SWEEPER JOB

KARACHI, India.—(AP.)—Amal Goswami, a high caste Brahmin of Bengal and an Oxford man, has applied to the municipality of this seaport for a job as road-sweeper and probably will get it.

Goswami became a bootblack in the streets of Calcutta and Bombay in order to "teach educated Indians the dignity of labor; break down distinctions between high and low and lead a simple life."

One of Goswami's objects is also to study the life of the untouchables and other degraded classes.

Ovens in Bakery Damaged By Bomb

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—A bomb exploded in a bakery yesterday damaging four ovens, smashing several windows and twisting beams in the plant of the Jamestown Baking Company.

Henry German, president of the company, estimated damage at $15,000. No one was hurt.

J. A. DONAHOE HEADS STORES

The board of directors of Donahoe's, Inc., today elected the former treasurer and general manager, J. A. Donahoe, as president of the company, succeeding the late P. J. Donahoe, and elected Maurice L. O'Brien, one of Pittsburgh's best-known bankers, as treasurer.

M. L. O'Brien

John M. Huston will remain as secretary of the company.

BUSINESS

Replacements Provide Huge Potential Auto Demand.

DETROIT, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The volume that "some day must come back into the market," seemingly is looming larger than ever as the basis for the growing optimism among sales executives of the motorcar industry as a variety of factors designed to increase purchasing power are being co-ordinated by influences outside the industry.

Ever since the distribution of motorcars was brought up with a jerk late in 1929, leaders of the industry—the manufacturers as well as the sales directors—have consoled themselves with the thought that the longer buyers remained out of the market the greater must be the ultimate wave of consumer demand. As sales resistance carried over from 1930 to '31 and '32, some of the executives charged with promoting retail distribution began to wonder whether the saturation of 1929 had been so complete as to leave no potential comeback in sight.

With the upturn in consumer demand that began four months ago and has continued through the period that normally sees a seasonal recession, the sales executives have brought out statistics again, to convince themselves and their associates that more than three years of restricted replacemnt of worn out vehicles has piled up a potential market that if released all at once would tax present production facilities.

The figures being scanned by producer and distributor alike run into the millions. They are designed to show that since the sudden halt late in 1929, upward of 7,000,000 vehicles have been taken out of use and not replaced and that the obsolescence of approximately the same number built several years before the 1929 balloon burst are long overdue at the junk pile.

* * *

One authority in the industry said:

"It seems like an exaggeration to say that 7,000,000 cars now in use are on the verge of being junked. Perhaps all of them will continue in operation for some time, but every one of them represents a vehicle whose owner would like to replace it as soon as possible and the replacement demand will begin to pour in at a much heavier rate than it has during the last four months just as soon as employment is stepped up, not in the motor factories alone, but throughout industry in general."

PRINCESS ROSE AGED 3 TODAY

LONDON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Princess Margaret Rose, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, celebrated her third birthday today at Glamis Castle, Scotland, where she was born and where she is spending a holiday with her parents.

Another birthday celebration occurred in the royal family. The Hon. Gerald Lascelles, younger son of the Princess Royal and the Earl of Harewood, was 9 years of age.

The King and Queen left their Sandringham residence to go to Harewood House, Leeds, for a short holiday with the Princess Royal and her husband.

On Wednesday, the King, accompanied by Queen Mary, will open the new civic buildings in Leeds. Thursday he will go to Balmoral Castle in Scotland, the Queen joining him on Monday.

RULES TO CHECK BANK ROBBERS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 21.—All state banks in Arkansas today were to go under the most drastic rules ever promulgated by the State Banking Department in an effort to curb the growing wave of bank robberies.

State Banking Commissioner Marion Wasson announced the rules, prohibiting banks from having on hand more than one per cent of their total deposits and requiring them to keep under time lock or armed guards "exposed cash" in a sum greater than 20 per cent of the total amount of cash permitted the banks.

At such times as the time locks of vaults are open, bankers will be required either to fasten the doors to banks, or to post at least two armed guards at entrances.

Editor, The Econostat

As everyone knows, construction is one industry which has distinct seasonal peculiarities. The great building months each year are March, April, May and June, while January and February rank at the tail end of the months in construction volume.

In order to judge the progress of this industry it is necessary to compare the total volume each month in the light of the volume that might normally be expected in that month. A volume of $100-million in contracts in February, for example, presents a much better picture than a volume of $125-million in June for the simple reason that we ordinarily expect 54 per cent more construction in the latter month than in February.

In order to make an easy comparison possible between the actual amount of construction let and the amount that can reasonably be expected in any given month the above chart shows solid vertical bars which represent actual contracts and the hatched background bars each show the average volume of contracts let for each month over a period of 13 years 1919-1931.

This is an industry unlike the packers and the dairymen in that its product can be postponed in periods of general hardship, whereas meat and milk are necessities of life which can not conveniently be deferred to any future date. As a result the consumption of such necessary articles rises little in a period of prosperity and correspondingly fails to decline seriously in a period of depression. On the other hand, construction does show extreme ranges, as may be noted by the tremendous gap between actual contracts each month and the bar, or normal, which might be expected.

It is of interest to note the sharp rise from May to June of this year as compared to the drop last year at this time. The improvement is particularly noticeable in residential and industrial and commercial construction, all of which show an increase this year in contrast to a decline last year. Furthermore, the absolute amounts of both exceed June of 1932.

Public work and utility construction, although it rises from $19.1-million to $24.4-million, is nevertheless at a much lower level than last year when public work and utility contracts to the amount of $50.1-million were let. As soon as the government program of construction gets under way with its anticipated volume of $500,000,000 a month this index of activity will leap upward.

STOCKS DRIFT IN CAUTIOUS MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—Financial markets generally settled down to routine performances today with most traders maintaining a "watchful waiting" policy.

Stocks moved up rather briskly for about half an hour after the opening, then dropped back to a steady and featureless job. Some early gains of 1 to 3 or more points were pared or eliminated. But there was little important selling pressure apparent. Grains were fairly firm at the start, but later drifted moderately lower. Cotton was little better than even and other commodities were slightly mixed. The dollar was a bit easier at one time in foreign exchange dealings, although it did not display unusual weakness. Bond market prices held to a narrow range.

While Wall street continued to discuss the various angles of inflationary possibilities, the feeling was fairly widespread that no radical measures would be taken by the administration in the immediate future. It was pointed out that Washington is centering all its efforts on the NRA program and any sharp upturn in prices generally, before the wage-raising plans have time to take hold, would not be consistent with the program.

Market observers are inclined to expect the Federal Reserve System will do something soon about further credit expansion, which, in a way, will be a form of inflation. For some time the system has confined its weekly purchases of government obligations to only about $10,000,000. It has authority to expand its purchases to a total of some $3,000,000,000. As the government has a huge amount of new financing to do, in connection with the recovery plans, it is considered probable that the Federal Reserve will be the logical destination for a large amount of the new securities.

That the buying power of the country is broadening rapidly is shown by the announcement that the public works administration has been putting out about $133,000,000 a week for the past nine weeks. At this rate, it is figured, the entire authorized $3,300,000,000 will be put into public works in six months. Allotments to date have aggregated $1,196,721,389, more than one-third of the entire fund.

COTTON RULES STEADY, HIGHER

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Cotton futures opened steady, 10 to 12 points advance in response to higher Liverpool cables and on trade buying. October, 9.50; December, 9.72; January, 9.83; March, 10.01; May, 10.16; July, 10.30.

The opening advance met some local and New Orleans selling. This was absorbed on partial reactions, however, and the market held fairly steady during the first half hour, although prices were influenced by small orders either way. December fluctuated between 9.66 and 9.76 and was holding around 9.71 at 10:30 o'clock, or about 10 points net higher.

There was a spurt of selling after the opening of the grain market which sent prices off several points. Trading later in the morning was quiet with fluctuations narrow and irregular. The bulges met scattering liquidation or local selling, however, December sagging to 9.57 and general list showing net losses of about 4 to 5 points at midday.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 21.—Cotton—Receipts, 3,200 bales, all American. Spot quiet; prices 9 points higher; quotations in pence. Futures closed quiet. October, 5.44; December, 5.48; January, 5.50; March, 5.55; May, 5.59; July, 5.63.

Wholesale Price Index Declines

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(INS.)—Wholesale commodity prices declined one point last week according to today's index of the National Fertilizer Association. The latest index number 66.4 is nine points lower than it was a month ago.

Five of the 14 major groups in the index advanced, five declined, and the remaining four showed no change. Thirty-two commodities showed higher prices while 37 showed lower prices.

INSTITUTIONAL BUYING SEEN IN BONDS

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The bond market conducted itself in a generally quiet and dignified manner during the past week with the only mild excitement being provided by some of the secondary, or speculative, groups.

Interest in listed loans was at a low ebb in the first three trading days, with volume dropping to the low levels of last spring. Activity picked up on Thursday and Friday coincident with rallies and declines in stocks and commodities, but the aggregate for the five-day week was still somewhat below normal.

The relative steadiness of senior securities, in the face of code discussions and grain trading uncertainties, is shown by the fact that the Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate bonds, at 80.8, was off only four-tenths of a point on the week.

FUNDS SEEK OUTLET

Prime investment issues displayed an optimistic tone throughout, and many of the so-called "best grade" issues finished with moderate gains. Institutional buying was reported in a number of the higher priced issues, with the continuing improved outlook for business and industry forming the basic purchasing motive. Also, it is pointed out, institutional funds have recently been seeking investment outlets because, under the new banking laws, no interest is paid on demand deposits and only extremely small disbursements are permitted on time funds.

U. S. ISSUES QUIET

There was some selling of the secondary rails and these, on the average, showed greater declines than either the utilities or industrials. Liquidation of some of the carriers was attributed to recessions in freight car loadings from those of the previous week. At the same time, however, traffic is still considerably ahead of that in 1932.

United States government issues were quiet and fairly firm. Foreign obligations generally improved.

HOME BUILDING UP IN JULY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP.)—A 30.1 per cent increase in the number of residential buildings constructed in 345 bigger cities during last July as compared with the same month a year ago is reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The value of the structures also is said to be 43 per cent greater in these cities of more than 25,000 population.

But for 776 places having populations of 10,000 or more residential construction operations dropped 6.9 per cent in number and 8.8 per cent in cost from June, 1933, to July.

These same cities of 10,000 or over showed a 10.6 per cent drop in number and 11.3 per cent slump in value of all building operations from June to July.

FAIR GALLERY SHOWS GADGETS

CHICAGO.—(INS.)—Everything from a mosquito trap to "almost" perpetual motion and freckle removing machines can be found in "Gadget Gallery" at the Travel and Transport Building of a Century of Progress—the Chicago World's Fair.

"Gadget Gallery," known officially as the Hall of Progress, occupies the top floor of the Travel and Transport building, and is in itself one of the most unusual exhibits at the Fair.

Virtually every inventor with some kind of contraption with which to make a fortune has a booth in "Gadget Gallery."

CODE CRITICIZED BY OIL MAN

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 19.—Pointing out the desire of Pennsylvania crude producers to have a code based on the lubricating qualities of oil, C. C. Hogg, general manager of National Petroleum Company, a delegate to the Washington conference for consideration of the oil code, today declared that producers of Pennsylvania grade oil do not get the necessary protection under the proposed regulations. He said:

The Pennsylvania oil field is unique, and needs protection not appearing under the new code. Artificial methods are necessary to produce this crude, and this results in high lifting costs."

Petitions on File To Recall Hoan

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 21.—Petitions asking that a recall election for mayor of Milwaukee be held, were on file today with County Judge Michael Sheridan. They were said to contain 46,100 signatures. Attorneys for Mayor Daniel W. Hoan asked that a time be set for hearing arguments on the sufficiency of the petitions. They were given until Wednesday to file objections.

Visible Grain Supply.

LONG-LOST GRID TROPHY FOUND

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 21.—(AP.)—The little brown jug, long the prize of victory between Michigan and Minnesota football teams, missing since just before the Wolverine-Gopher game of 1931, has been found.

In a clump of bushes on East University avenue, near the medical building at the university here, the gridiron trophy was found today by Al Thomas, a brother of Lorenzo Thomas, groundkeeper at Ferry Field.

The jug quite apparently was placed in the bushes within the last few days.

When the demijohn, its sides carrying the scores of numerous Michigan-Minnesota grid contests, disappeared two years ago, various "accusations" were passed back and forth, but it remained in hiding.

It will be the prize again when the Gophers and Wolverines meet here on November 18.

CHASE FOR CAR FATAL TO 2

CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 21.—A wild chase by three in one car who sought to overtake a motorist, who, it is claimed, bumped t.em, resulted in the death of two from fractured skulls, George Fradisk, 49, restaurant proprietor, and Richard Payne, 31, early today.

Payne, gas station attendant, was struck by the chasing machine, as he was standing by a parked car. George Laber, near Eckhart, driving the car that was pursued, was arrested as was Leo Palmer, driver of the car which struck Payne and in which Fradiska was riding. It crashed into two poles. Jerome Creegan, 29, in the wrecked car, is reported in serious condition.

PA. VETS' BONUS HIT BY LEAGUE

The Western Pennsylvania branch of the National Economy League today announced approval of the proposed $25,000,000 state relief bond issue and opposition to the $50,000,000 Pennsylvania soldiers bonus issue.

The relief bonds were characterized as the keystone of the state's relief program this year. The announcement pointed out that war service had been performed for the federal government, and contended that any obligation still existing was an obligation of the entire nation and not of Pennsylvania alone.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Slug's villainous eyes peering from out the mass of whiskers filled Cavanaugh with a desire to explode with laughter.

"Don't put those eyes on me that way, Slug—I can't stand it!" he cried, struggling to keep from roaring. "You look like a bilious possum!"

Slug growled in his whiskers. "Quit your kidding, Lucky. Want the cops to recognize you and pick us up?"

This wisdom was too obvious to be ignored. Cavanaugh removed his coat and knotted the red handkerchief around his neck. The perfection of the disguise lay in its simplicity.

"I figured I might find you at her house," said Slug. "Ever since Poletzki started gunning for you I've been sitting on a hot stove. You know it was him that blasted the Santos dame, don't you?"

"Certainly I know it," said Cavanaugh.

"If the dumb cops hadn't grabbed you up I know you would have taken care of the bohunk yourself," went on Slug. "Matter of fact, I had a notion to soften his skull myself last night, but I thought maybe I ought to talk to you first."

"Forget that idea," Cavanaugh told him firmly. "A dead Poletzki won't do me any good. I owe him to Mulrooney. That Kruger job doesn't matter, but I've got to clear my name about Annette Santos."

Cavanaugh was not thinking of clearing his name or protecting his life as major obligations. The main job was to deliver Poletzki to Mulrooney in exchange for Mulrooney's silence about Leni Luneska.

PLENTY OF WITNESSES

With Mulrooney satisfied the other thing wouldn't matter so much.

"You ought to be able to beat that Santos rap easily," said Slug.

"Ought to, yes, but they can make it tough for me if they want a goat," said Cavanaugh. "Mulrooney knows I didn't kill that girl. They've plenty of witnesses that heard the shot come from outside my apartment. Some of them saw a man climbing down the fire escape. It was bad enough to have the girl killed in my apartment without being arrested for murdering her."

Cavanaugh felt better after unburdening himself. He was not complaining, merely stating facts.

"You certainly got plenty against Poletzki alright," said Slug judicially. "A guy like that don't deserve no consideration."

They were driving down Santa Monica boulevard toward the neighborhood of a studio. In this locality there would be any number of men similarly garbed, and the chances were a thousand to one against recognition. Until they decided what to do, the vicinity of a major studio was safe territory. In the midst of his whiskers, Slug struggled with an ethical problem.

"I know exactly how you feel," he said thoughtfully. "Poletzki ought to be ventilated, but it's an unpleasant job. I mean, it's unpleasant for a man like you. Me, I don't mind it so much."

MURDER MYSTERY

"No—that's the dumb way," said Cavanaugh decisively. "I never thought I'd see the day when I'd turn anybody over to the coppers, but Poletzki's got it coming."

Slug's voice became troubled. "Myself, I'd rather give him the business."

Slug had worked on only one job with Poletzki and—since the man had tried to kill Cavanaugh—he no longer had any standing as a pal. The bond between Slug and Cavanaugh, according to any code, automatically put Slug whole-heartedly on the young gambler's side.

"Another thing we've got to consider," Cavanaugh went on, "is to keep from involving you and the other boys. I'm not going to do anything that will get you in wrong, Slug. If anybody gives Poletzki the rod, then the Santos murder remains a mystery."

It was a mystery beyond Slug's ability to solve.

"As far as Poletzki's two partners are concerned—they screwed out of town already," Slim said. "They're practically strangers to me, and I don't think Poletzki knew 'em very well neither. You needn't worry about them. Far as I'm concerned, I'll be okay. I can take it on the lam myself if it will help you any."

There was something ridiculous about the man, but Cavanaugh was touched. Slug, beyond doubt, was a public enemy but he had the virtue named loyalty, at least.

"You're a swell guy, Slug," said Cavanaugh with sincerity.

They were both thinking the same thing. It was going to be up to Cavanaugh alone to deal with Poletzki...

Cavanaugh knew that he would have to tighten his brain and squeeze out an inspiration.

The problem that confronted him was a matter of intelligence. He did not want to kill Poletzki. He had not even wanted to punch Mulrooney on the chin. Of his own accord, Lucky Cavanaugh was the best-natured fellow in the world, but there was now a tightening in his nerves that told him the time was at hand to get ready for action.

"If you say the word I'll take the whole proposition off your hands and settle it myself," said Slug.

They were still driving around aimlessly. They had passed several policemen, but the battered car with its two costumed characters failed to bring the bat of an eye from the officers.

"You've done plenty for me already," said Cavanaugh. "Where is this fellow Poletzki staying?"

Slug turned the car into Vine street and drove along casually towards Sunset Boulevard.

"The three of 'em had an apartment on Western avenue. Poletzki is still staying there. He never gets up before noon because he don't like to go out in the day time. Not even for meals. He's a guy that don't eat much. You know, he's always full of junk. All the same, you've got to be careful when you ram into him. He's as nervous as a cat and he handles himself pretty good."

His eyes peered at Cavanaugh's face—and saw the grim and earnest set of the young gambler's jaw.

"That's swell," said Cavanaugh. "Now I want you to take me down there, Slug, and drop me off. After you do that I want you to back out of the whole business and stay out—for your own protection."

Cavanaugh, despite his seriousness, found it difficult to keep a sober look and gaze upon his bewhiskered and plaid-shirted accomplice. Unless he controlled himself, a sudden fit of mirth would upset him. Cavanaugh's sense of humor was a treacherous weakness capable of throwing him into pealing laughter at the most solemn moments.

"Whatever you say goes with me," said Slug. "But I better stick along—just in case."

"It's my party," said Cavanaugh amiably, "and you're not invited pal. You better get out of town and fix up an alibi on that safe business. How you fixed for money?"

"More than I need," returned Slug.

Cavanaugh said nothing further to him. From now on it was, indeed, Lucky's exclusive party.

Synopsis

At the premiere of her latest picture, Leni Luneska, beautiful star, is stunned by the appearance of her criminal husband, Karl Kruger. Lucky Cavanaugh, gambler, who has just seen Leni for the first time, tries to make Kruger leave. Later Cavanaugh goes to see Kruger, waiting in a small office. Kruger rushes away from Cavanaugh and surprises burglars in the next office. One of them shoot him to death. Detective Mulrooney, well acquainted with Cavanaugh, gives him four days to find the killer or be arrested himself. Lucky takes Leni home. Lucky is warned that the killer is after him to prevent him from "squealing." Kruger's murderer lies in wait to kill Lucky. Lucky, arriving home, finds a jealous woman, named Annette, waiting for him. Steve Poletzki, the killer, aims at Lucky through a window and kills Annette by mistake. Next morning, Leni is swamped with congratulatory messages on the premiere. Her success is assured, but more important to her than that is Cavanaugh's love for her. Herman Gerstenfield, noted director, calls. He tries to persuade Leni to sign a new contract. Gerstenfield tells Leni that he is her friend. Leni reads about Cavanaugh's arrest. Mulrooney visits Leni. He consents to bring Cavanaugh to see her. Cavanaugh and Mulrooney become engaged in a heated argument, during which Cavanaugh knocks out the detective and escapes. After Mulroney leaves Cavanaugh appears in Leni's apartment. He leaves Leni's apartment to meet Slug, his friend.

NOW GO ON

Slug's voice became troubled. "Myself, I'd rather give him the business."

Plenty of news today, fellows!

All over town and all over the Pittsburgh district new Captains are organizing patrols—it begins to look like a landslide, fellows! Have you joined the patrol in your neighborhood? And here's another swell piece of news—some Captains are starting to have parties with other Captains. Just the other day we got word that Capt. Matilda Suto, of 198 Beaver street, Leetsdale, has invited the Captains and their members of the Ambridge and Avalon Patrols to go on a picnic with her club! Make a note of their addresses and when you see them here begin to correspond with other Captains!

NEWS NEWS NEWS NEWS

Capt. Frank Lebach, of 76 Orchard street, McKees Rocks, has sent in 10 pledges and gets an armband.

Josephine Laxeron, of Box 272, South Brownsville, has 12 names on her roll, she says, but she doesn't send the roll and she doesn't send in any pledges. Josephine—if your members are already registered at headquarters, and if they have their cards and badges, send in a list of their names, with the numbers of their pledge cards right after their names!

Today's long distance member is Paul Silberblatt, of 104 Elizabeth street, Clearfield, Pa.

Peggy Chantler, of 1321 Liverpool street, Pittsburgh, has 11 members in her club if she can count Teddy—a watch dog. Sorry, Peggy, but dogs can't vote or talk, you know, and so I guess we will have to not count him. But leaving him out leaves you 10 members anyway! Can you send us your picture with Teddy beside you?

The photograph right below here shows Capt. Betty Bickert and her brother, Billy Bickert in their yard at 5 Club Drive, Mt. Oliver. Betty has a swell patrol. How about sending in your photographs, you other Captains?

ANYWAY, IT WAS FUN WHILE IT LASTED

(Lamar, Mo., Democrat)

Wednesday morning, there was a story out over town, to the effect that robbers had tunneled under the back end of Bernard Lockwood's garage at his home on North Poplar, and opened the north door of the garage. Nothing was disturbed in the garage. It was hard to understand just why anybody would dig a hole in the foundation at the west end of the garage when the doors on the east end were open. While we were at the Lockwood agency, listening to the boys dope out the mystery, one of them said Bernard had concluded the hole at the west end of the garage had probably been made by a bird dog.

Soothing the Letter Writer

A writer whose accuracy has never been corrected we wish to call attention to the following apologies.

D. P. W.: Sorry to have done an injustice to Cleopatra. Even if we were right it would have been too late.

Californian: Your correction received. We discovered that Samuel Johnson said the same thing about claret almost two centuries ago.

Mannix: Rules are the same as the oldtime beer gardens. No parents admitted without their children.

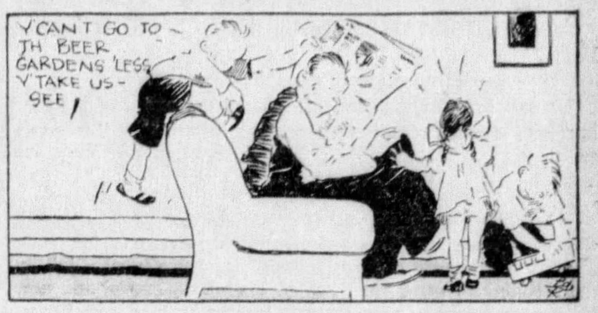
Dunbar: We stand corrected. Have a seat.

Unkky Woo: Grant lost his first battle as a general. Got his whiskers knocked off.

Portland: A thousand times no. That's inflating a negative.

Ender: Everybody hated David Garrick until they saw him act. Maybe we will have to go on the stage.

Mrs. Toots: You're a liar yourself.



Eddie: We feel as happy as a deep sea diver taking off his shoes.

St. Louis: We don't care whether it is in Golden Gate Park or China. We just put the leaning tower in Spain to save carfare.

Admirer: Impossible. We don't wear a hat in hot summer.

Wistful: Am almost bald, have a red nose, no teeth and a body squeak in damp weather. Don't forget that the Declaration of Independence was really a dignified complaint blank.

History: The black prince lowbridged the blind King of Bohemia and stole his motto and three feathers. The slogan was "I serve" and that started all the cafeterias, ended chivalry and cost you a three-cent stamp.

Idaho: You and who else?

Tinkworth: It's pretty bad and parsley won't help it.

Indignant: We never said the duke started as a barefoot boy on a crocodile farm. That dumb he was not.

The Spoils System

It Appears at Its Worst in the Use of Relief Jobs for Political Purposes.

If the government at Washington, now under Democratic control, grants Pittsburgh the $4,778,862 asked for improvement of the wharves, will it stipulate that the new jobs thus to be created shall be given exclusively to Democrats?

The question is ridiculous, of course.

Will the city administration, now under Republican control, see to it that the jobs are given exclusively to Republicans?

The second question is not ridiculous.

The questions have been raised by the query of a Pittsburgher who asks the Sun-Telegraph whether or not one's political affiliations will have any bearing on eligibility for work on the river project.

It is no wonder that he is concerned, for he says he had this experience: Out of work for two years, and the main support of a family of four, he was recently offered a job by the Republican ward chairman of his ward—one of the new jobs created by the City Council for the relief of the unemployed, we suppose. The chairman told him, however, that he would have to vote Republican.

But the man happens to be a Democrat, and his self-respect and sense of honor would not permit him to enter into any such humiliating bargain. He accordingly refused, and did not get the job.

This is the spoils system at its worst, and Pittsburgh would do well to get rid of it.

An Empty Pledge

Banks Are Slow to Fulfill Their Promise to Furnish Credit to Businessmen.

In connection with the regimenting of economic groups under the Blue Eagle by the National Recovery Administration, the big New York banks promised to hit the trail.

There was much ballyhoo over their pledge to quicken the flow of goods and services by furnishing credit to businessmen.

But when their letter to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national business administrator, is analyzed, it means very little.

Even in the darkest days of the depression, the solvent well-managed banks were willing to make commercial loans to grade A borrowers.

But on account of the uncertainty in respect to withdrawals and the business trend, the banks in effect tended to withhold credit from grade B and grade C borrowers, whom they used to encourage in normal times.

There will be a real loosening of bank credit when and if the banks again become more venturesome in their dealings with borrowers other than those of the highest grade.

Thus far, banks have been rather hesitant in this direction.

In being lenient with such borrowers in boom times, the banks exaggerate the peaks in business cycles, whereas in pulling in their horns completely in adverse periods, banks tend to deepen the depression.

It goes without saying that at no stage of the business cycle should banks entrust depositors' funds to the inefficient or to those without an adequate capital setup.

But if banks are to be socially useful, they should apply the brakes before abnormal expansion runs its course and should loosen up after liquidation has been substantially completed.

In its pledge of co-operation with NRA, the banks sidestepped the issue by saying:

"Such (commercial) loans should be granted, of course, only where the credit of the borrowers justifies it, and each loan must be considered on its own merits, but all loan applications which pass this ordinary banking requirement should, and undoubtedly will, have sympathetic consideration from the banks."

This merely states that the banks will be kindly disposed to ACCEPTABLE loans.

It fails to say that the broadening of consumption, through re-employment and through the relative rise in prices of farm products and other aspects of recovery, will make the banks more willing to accept normal business risks.

Since the bank holiday, loans and investments of reporting member banks in 90 leading cities have increased only from $16,017,000,000 on March 15 to $16,557,000,000 on August 2.

Economic losses and new legislation have operated to check the flow of capital and credit into business channels.

Accordingly, the inventive mind must be mobilized to open up new reservoirs of funds.

If the bankers want to give more than lip service to the administration program, they will express their new enthusiasm in larger commercial loans, especially to the smaller applicants to whom they have turned unwilling ears in the last three years.

Otherwise the government may have to function in their place.

The Sturgeon

Its Story Furnishes a Good Illustration of the Destruction Of Our Fishing Resources.

As a young man the late Dr. William J. Holland stood one day on the bridge at the Point and, looking down into the clear water, saw resting on the bottom a large number of great sturgeons.

We are reminded of this incident, which he related at a dinner of the Wild Life League several years ago, by mention of the sturgeon by Oliver M. Deibler, Commissioner of Fisheries, in an article in the current number of the Pennsylvania Angler, the entertaining news bulletin issued by the State Board of Fish Commissioners.

Mr. Deibler uses the sturgeon as an illustration of the destruction of our fishing resources. It was one of our common fishes in years gone by and not infrequently attained a weight in excess of 100 pounds. Although it now commands a high price in the fish markets, people gave no thought to the conservation of the sturgeon. Thousands were used to fertilize the farmers' fields. The result was that the sturgeon has virtually disappeared from all Pennsylvania rivers.

Encouraged by the wonderful success of the Game Commission in bringing back deer to Pennsylvania, the Fish Commission is undertaking to do the same thing for the benefit of the anglers. The prospect of success is very good in the unpolluted streams.

Alas, there is no hope that any of us will ever see sturgeons in the rivers around Pittsburgh—unless industrial contamination is ended.

Stone Walls Do Not a Prison Make

Copyright, 1933.

Some time ago a prisoner in a Federal penitentiary was refused a parole.

Recently it was revealed that the authorities had reversed themselves and were going to grant a parole.

Protest against this laxity resulted in another reversal, and the parole was again refused.

The incident has served to call attention again to the PAROLE RACKET, which is one of the things that makes law enforcement feeble and racketeering seem safe.

Politics, allied with law breakers, sometimes prevents arrests. In other cases it prevents successful prosecutions. When convictions are unavoidable it helps to liberate the convict and let him go back into business.

Repeated instances have been known of paroled offenders actually returning to their interrupted rackets during the very period when they are supposed to be in prison.

The parole racket is the culminating point in the whole racketeering business. It must be abolished, along with the rest of the lawless rackets.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Anti-Kissing League

Won't somebody please inaugurate an Anti-Kissing League or a Kiss-Reform League—or something?

* * *

I'm SO tired of seeing people KISS each other! Aren't you? The other night I sat through a screen play in which a girl and a man kissed each other seven times in 15 minutes—and it was a "crime play" at that.

* * *

Once, I secretly thought that a kiss was the most wonderful and thrilling thing in the world! I could write whole columns about it. No other subject so intrigued me! But then kissing was a personal and private affair, not a public pastime like flagpole sitting.

It's the REPETITION of a thing that makes it monotonous and tiresome. For while repetition may be the secret of successful advertising, it becomes a terrible bore when applied to anything else. The insane asylums are filled with people whose only mania is repeating the same words or doing the same thing over and over and over again.

* * *

And after you have watched a pair of screen lovers kissing each other for an hour or so, or sat through a party where everybody seemed to be kissing everybody else, you begin to wonder if you, TOO, are not losing your reason and qualifying for the Observation Ward.

* * *

Of course, affection is a beautiful thing and everybody wants it. Every woman enjoys being kissed by the right man at the right moment. It would be the most devastating fate imaginable to die without ever having been KISSED!

* * *

It would be a pity and a shame if the whole American Nation should turn against kissing, just as we turned against midget golf and prohibition and Auction bridge and short skirts.

Kissing, after all, is an ART—and one of the strongest human impulses. But, like all the other fine arts, it ought to be practiced with skill and delicacy and self-restraint. Above all, it ought to have a MEANING.

* * *

Nothing makes me madder than to be kissed, just as a matter of form, by a woman who hates me—unless it is to be kissed, just as a matter of course, by a man who bores me!

* * *

That's why I suggest a Kiss-Reform League. We have a Divorce Reform League, a Prohibition Reform League—in fact a league for the elimination of every other sort of persecution and public evil, so why not for the kissing nuisance?

* * *

Just a few weeks or months of total abstinence from kissing, just a brief relief from being kissed or having to SEE anybody being kissed, might revive our fainting interest in the art—and make us as thirsty for kisses as a camel is for a drink after a 600-mile walk!

Bowes sent an armful of mint and I fashioned a julep with a heeltap of grape juice. So breakfasting with Dave Picton, Houston barrister, and walked him to the law courts.

Scrivening and news that Frank and Nell Reilly's Jean, whom I loved greatly, passed away. So walking up the avenue and with some nipskillions to a tea where came the Du Bois Heywards, John Farrar, Dick Berlin, George Horace Lorimer's son Graham and others.

Home and twittery over a bid to fly to Atlantic City for lunch with Amelia Earhart. And heard this day the Reginald Wright Kauffmans are over from Switzerland. Chester Marsh and Justine Hall for dinner and we sat until a silvern moon swung high talking of our childhood in Gallipolis.

The Mall in Central Park is not only the playground for children of the rich but the foliating ground for much juvenile snootiness. Interlopers with their mothers are outside the pale. To be really swank one must have ones' own uniformed nurse. Nurses also regard mothers who drop around at intervals to see how their children are getting along as "snoopers" and often, in such instances, quit their job.

One of Montague Glass's stories concerns a young reporter who recently took to himself a bride. The next day he went to lunch with his rather czarish boss who observed casually: "You have nerve to marry on your salary. Has your wife money?" They had only a few dollars between them. But to put up a front: "O, lots of it!" As a result the next day he was fired. That was six months ago and he hasn't had a job since.

Mrs. Arnold Bennett, second wife of the novelist, who as Dorothy Cheston, was the storm center of a marital triangle, and well known to the London stage, has been appearing in the Red Barn Circuit around New York in her late husband's play, "Mr. Proback." Mrs. Bennett is the "D" who appears so frequently in the later volumes of Bennett's journal and as such is the object of much lorgnette curiosity. She is a striking beauty, tall, statuesque, and hopes to bring the production to the Rialto this fall.

The Sealyham is home from a day at the shore thoroughly exhausted and completely mystified. As he squatted under a huge sun umbrella, his tongue suggesting a pink plush necktie, a passerby tossed him a chunk of ice. He began to frolic. When the ice finally melted and evaporated in the sand he could not understand the evanishment and began to dig. He was on his way to China when it was decided to call it a day and bring the sap home.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Tired? . . . Disgusted? . . . Discouraged?

Feel you've made a mess of everything?

Always made a mess of everything—

One blunder after another—all your life—

Until nobody believe in you any more . . .

If only somebody understood . . . realized how hard you tried—

But they don't—they won't. All they see are the failures. If they could look beneath . . . see how much you wanted to make good—

For you did—didn't you? All your life you've wanted to make good. Not just play safe—pile up a profit—but really do something splendid . . . something lovely—

But who would believe you if you tried to tell them that—with a messed up record like your?

I'LL BELIEVE YOU, STRANGER!

My record's messed up, too. And all my life I've wanted to make good, just as you have, yet blundered instead. And many and many a time, these dark moods come to me as they come to you. Moods when my pride is in the mud . . . when I hate myself . . . when I wonder if it's worth while, trying to go on—

And then I'll remember a verse I once heard—

"HOW MANY LOVED YOUR MOMENTS OF GLAD GRACE,
"AND LOVED YOUR BEAUTY WITH LOVE FALSE OR TRUE,
"BUT ONE MAN LOVED THE PILGRIM SOUL IN YOU,
"AND LOVED THE SORROWS OF YOUR CHANGING FACE."

The "pilgrim soul"—why do folks like you and I, stranger, dream so nobly—then fail so terribly? That's why—

SOMETHING IN US WON'T STAY PUT.

Something in us can't be satisfied with the things that satisfy so many others. And once—I despised that "something" in me—as you're despising that something in you, now. Once I wished I "could be like other people" . . . comfortable, respectable, successful people—

People who always succeeded in what they started to do—

People who never blundered, never ravelled out, never made fools of themselves—

How I envied those people! How I wished I could share their comfort and safety!

But I don't any more. I know, now, that I couldn't be like such people if I would. And I wouldn't if I could! For in me, as in you, there's a "pilgrim soul." And it's the gypsy fires for us, who are like that.

Not much to look at—a gypsy. Ragged, weary, hungry and broke—usually. No place he can call home. Mighty few he can call friends. No more social standing than a wood-tick. And all the world giving him the ha-ha . . . or cursing him out for being a common tramp. And yet—

There are points about being a gypsy, too.

There are visions in those wistful eyes, which the satisfied ones never see! There are songs in those listening ears, which the successful ones never hear! There's a flame in that foolish, floundering heart which the smug ones can never feel!

Pilgrim souls—gypsy hearts—don't be discouraged, stranger, if you belong to their clan. After all, Life's pretty much of a gypsy herself. Ever think what a lot of wandering life has done . . . what a lot of blunders life has made . . . what a lot of energy and treasure she has wasted on her way?

YET THE OLD GIRL'S STEPPING RIGHT ALONE!

And maybe just "stepping along" . . . struggling, blundering, reaching, falling, yet somehow never quite losing sight of the stars . . . maybe that's as well worthwhile as stacking up a million. Sometimes I think it is—

So don't be too disgusted if you're just a pilgrim, old dear. Take it from me, you have a lot of company!

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis.

Epitaphs

Cut deep into the stone
The kindly words remain,
Defying wind and sun
And driving sleet and rain.

Grown dimmer year by year
Until the stranger needs
To bend his head, to peer
To learn this name, these deeds.

Such tender, wistful lines
The grieving hearts wrote down
That, reading, one divines
How love is each life's crown.

But not on crypt or tomb
Or grave where ivy creeps
And ruddy roses bloom
Above the one who sleeps.

Is the true record set;
But on the lives he knew,
The other men he met
Who found him false or true!

The Human Side of the News

Were-Tigers Reported in Sumatra—Man Slain By Superstitious Natives—World's White Population Decreasing

By EDWIN C. HILL

THE news brings a curious yarn from Sumatra. British agents report that the natives are in deadly fear of "were-tigers"—human beings that walk by day as ordinary men and prowl the night as bloodthirsty tigers, turning themselves by witch-craft and black magic into fanged, striped, four-footed killers.

Hubert Banner, of the Royal Geographical Society, reports the true story of a brassware peddler who was taken for one of these were-tigers. The peddler approached a village late at night. Before he could reach the protection of its lights he discovered that he was being stalked by a tiger. Terrified, he took refuge in the first place he could find, which happened to be a pit which had been dug by the villagers to trap a real tiger. All that night the beast prowled about the brink of the pit in which the brass peddler lay huddled, and, of course, its prowlings erased the marks of the peddler's feet, leaving only the marks of its own pugs.

In the morning, when the tiger had slunk from the sun back into the jungle, the villagers found a man inside the tiger trap, yet there was not a single human footprint around the pit itself, only the plain prints of a tiger's feet and claws. Without hesitation they speared the luckless brass peddler to death, certain that they had trapped a were-tiger.

The belief, in one form or another, is one of the oldest in the world. The Indians of northern Canada are to this day terrified of "were-wolves" and were-wolverines. South American Indians deep in the Amazonian jungles fear ghost-jaguars, and believe that wicked men, controlled by evil spirits, can take the form of blood-thristy jaguars. Throughout India lingers that ancient fear of human-tigers—human souls transmigrated into the body of a tiger . . . Rudyard Kipling employs the theme in one of his finest stories, "The Tomb of His Ancestors."

Population Grows, But More Slowly

IS the white race dying out, nearing its end? Is it doomed to disappear before the onrush of the yellow race? Vital statistics on the birth and death rates of the United States, England and its dominions and Europe, bring sharply to the front prophecies and predictions that the white race is close to its peak if it has not already passed it. These statistics call to mind, also, Dr. Lothrop Stoddard's assertions, made a decade ago in his notable book, "The Rising Tide of Color."

Eighteen births for every 1,000 of our population were recorded in the United States last year, against a death rate of about 11 in every 1,000, leaving us an average of about seven lives to the good in every thousand. The cities of San Francisco and Los Angeles show the largest decreases in the birth rate among the cities, while the New England States show the largest declines among the different sections of the country. Going back to 1915, we find that the birth rate was 25 for every 1,000, and that the decline for the past 10 years has been 25 per cent, while the death rate has remained about the same.

Census officials and insurance actuaries have figured that the year 1950 would mark the peak of population growth in the United States, but they are inclined now to revise their calculations, holding that the stationary point is apt to arrive considerably before 1950. Increasing numbers of older people are found in the United States today. In fact, the number of persons 65 years of age or more increased 34 per cent between 1920 and 1930. One observer offers the comment that a grave economic question may be involved, and that from now on production must be gauged and arranged for to meet the needs of an older and a declining population.

Japan's Birth Rate Is Highest

AMONG the peoples of the world Japan has the highest birth rate, with four new subjects of the Emperor born every minute, or 5,760 every day. In 1932, 1,007,868 babies were born in Japan. At the same time the death rate was the lowest on record. Startling news for England and Wales was the official announcement last year that the death rate had exceeded the birth rate, with 15.4 per thousand deaths and 15.3 per thousand births. The rest of the continent, aside from Spain, reports declines, despite the pronouncements and preachings of Mussolini, Hitler and other advocates of increasing birth rates. France feels the decline notably. The average Frenchman has only 2.2 children today, whereas in 1896 the average was three and 100 years ago it was four.

The population of the world is, roughly, two billion persons, of whom 550,000,000 are whites. Less than a third, not much more, indeed, than a quarter of the world's population, the white race, occupying only two-fifths of the surface of the globe, nevertheless controls nine-tenths of its area. Lothrop Stoddard fixed the decline of the white race as beginning in 1900, after a remarkable rise, which, starting in 1500, continued for 400 years and gave the white man dominion over almost the entire globe.

His findings and deductions have led to much acrimonious debate, but a British sociologist rises up now to support Stoddard and to assert that if the trend continues for a sufficient length of time, as it is going now, the white population of the world will inevitably die out. The process would be slow, taking hundreds of years, no doubt, but a considerable decrease in the white race might be expected before the year 2000.

This is true, he asserts, for the United States and for Europe, Great Britain and the dominions and commonwealths of the British family of nations . . . Well, it may come, this decline and death of the white race, but it will be a long time in coming, if ever; a long time indeed before Macaulay's last man awakens in his city of the dead.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You spend a lot of your time in railing at what you call the hypocrisy of those who take the lead in any undertaking.

You would not accept responsibility in the way of office or work of any kind because then you could not find time to sneer at those whom you call "the morons at the helm."

You don't acknowledge to yourself that any such reason actuates your criticisms, but it is true that you would rather complain than work.

For instance, you won't go to the polls and vote.

You say that your little vote would not affect the general results.

But when your kind is multiplied by thousands, it makes all the difference between good results and bad ones.

For one thing, it is easier to take up a hue and cry than it is to study the reason for the dissenting voices.

You don't want to charge your mind with the difference between this or that one's attitude toward the questions of the day.

You follow the "bell-sheep."

If the bell sheep is going in the wrong direction, you don't know it.

It's better to go slow in taking up others' opinions and study enough to evolve a few of your own.

Isn't It So?

It is impossible to forget the past when you have so many creditors reminding you of it.

Some women change their minds as often as they do their clothes.
